THE OSTEND CONFERENCE.

RICH DEVELOPMENTS.

TREATY WITH SOUTH AMERICA.

Special Dispatch to the New-York Daily Times.

WASHINGTON, Tuesday, March 6.

The idea of an extra session of Congress is nonsense. Nobody here who is well informed dreams of it. No crisis in our foreign relations, making such a step necessary, now exists, nor is any anticipated.

It is untrue that a special meeting of the Cabinet was held last night in relation to the Ostend Correspondence. The documents were recalled by the State Department simply to enable Mr. Soule to rearrange them in proper order, which he did last evening. As they had been already ordered to be printed, of course no change can be made in the matter itself.

The portion of the Soule correspondence which I telegraphed you last evening fully confirms my assertion, made some time since, that nobody had yet published a true statement of the recommendations made by the Ostend Convention.

I send you to-night two additional letters from Mr. Soule to Mr. Marcy, and one from Mr. Marcy to Mr. Soule, which give a fair idea of the general character of the correspondence. These have reference to the Black Warrior outrage, to the Cuba negotiations and the Ostend Conference. S.

Mr. Soule to Mr. Marcy.—[Extract.]

(No. 18.) LEGATION OF THE UNITED STATES,
MADRID, May 2, 1854.

SIR: Col. E. V. SUMNER, who arrived here on the 30th ult. delivered into my hands the full power authorizing me to negotiate with the Government of Her Catholic Majesty for the cession to the United States of the Island of Cuba, and the instructions by which it is the wish of the President that I should be guided in the discharge of that grave and important trust.

Although the difficulties pending between this country and our own may not allow me for the present to approach any person in authority, or with influence in the Government councils, touching so delicate a subject, I cannot but think that the developments which they are likely to take, will afford me in the end the very best opportunity for bringing this question to a fair test, and my chances of success to a decisive trial.

The utter indifference and unconcern with which Spain looks upon our grievances, seem to indicate a purpose on her part to ascertain how far she can with impunity taunt and insult us.

She certainly needs to be taught that there are limits to our powers of endurance. Let her but receive a good lesson this time, and be sure she will wake up from her slumber, and lend a more docile ear to the voice of reason.

What has induced this country to decline coming at once to a definite resolve with reference to the affair of the Black Warrior, is already most apparent. It has not been able to persuade itself that we are serious in our demands.

Among other things, the slowness of Congress to take up and act upon the recommendations of the President's Message, of March 15, has emboldened it to resist us. Nor can it be expected to move until it sees some further evidence of our determination to enforce the consideration of our demands.

It still insists on the want of sufficient data to enlighten its judgment, though at the same time it has ample information to enable it to blind and pervert the conscience of the Spanish people concerning this affair.

On the same day that Mr. SUMNER reached Madrid the Heraldo newspaper, the organ of the present Cabinet, came out with a labored and most false and perverted statement of the facts in the whole transaction, closing with the remark, that "the Committee on Foreign Relations continued to be mute on the subject of the President's Message."

In order to counteract in some measure the effect which so significant a suggestion was intended to produce, knowing that no article embodying a true statement of the case would be allowed to appear, I procured to be inserted in the Clamor Publico, the following day, a simple notice, of which the following is a translation:

"Yesterday arrived at this Court, Mr. SUMNER, Colonel of Dragoons of the active Army of the United States, with dispatches of the greatest importance for the American Minister. His mission, it appears, is secret, and of so much interest that he will return immediately to Washington with the answer of Mr. SOULE."

The newspaper, however, was immediately stopped by the supercilious censor of the press, and the notice ordered to be stricken out before it could be allowed to issue.

I succeeded, however, in getting a Spanish translation of the letter of "CHARLES TYNG & CO.," of Havana, dated March 1, to the proprietors of the Black Warrior, in New-York, to appear in yesterday's number of the same newspaper.

This, however, is represented as the interested and unreliable account of the parties in fault—not at all to be considered in comparison with the same official statement before alluded to. In this issue it is boldly charged that "an officer of the Custom-House delivered to the Captain (BULLOCH) the printed sheet of the rules and obligations to which he ought, like all others, to submit himself, printed in Spanish, English and French, and of which he gave a receipt, and in spite of which neither he nor the consignee was willing to make any addition, during the legal term, to the fraudulent manifest which had been presented at first, although they have since wished to say, with notorious falsity, that they endeavored to do so in time, and that they were not permitted."

I have heard nothing more of M. CALDERON since I sent him my note of the 20th ultimo.

My opinion is that he intends to keep silent until it shall be seen what course Congress will see fit to pursue.

* * * *

I have the honor to remain, with the highest respect, Sir, your obedient servant,
PIERRE SOULE.

Mr. Soule to Mr. Marcy.—[Extract.]

LEGATION OF THE UNITED STATES,
MADRID, May 24, 1854.

* * * * * * *

I cannot persuade myself that there is anything serious in this warlike demonstration. Spain is without means of her own or credit to follow it up, and will not, I am sure, commit herself lightly in a struggle against us. But she has clearly no fear that the policy suggested by the President's Message to Congress will be carried out, and hence the resistance which she now opposes to our just demands. She considers besides, that in remitting the fine for which the owners of the Black Warrior have so submissively sued mercy, she has done as much as could be required of her justice, or even expected from her magnanimity.

Her Government already revels in the triumph which it anticipates achieving over us on this occasion.

Most anxiously, for my own part, do I await to know what resolve Congress will have come to, as I could not think for a moment to retain a post, from whence I would have to behold the contemptuous insolence which my discomfiture and that of the Administration would be so sure to provoke.

I have the honor to be, Sir, your obedt. servt.,
PIERRE SOULE.

Mr. Marcy to Mr. Soulé, No. 27:

DEPARTMENT OF STATE,
WASHINGTON, Nov. 13, 1854.

SIR: The communication of the 10th ult., embodying the views of yourself, Mr. BUCHANAN, and Mr. MASON, upon our embarrassing relations with Spain, has been received and submitted to the President. He has given to that document the deliberate consideration due alike to the importance of the subject therein discussed, and to the experience, wisdom and ability of those whose opinions and suggestions it contains. When he first entered upon the duties of his present station, he found our intercourse with Spain much disturbed by the Spanish authorities of Cuba. It has been his anxious desire and the object of his strenuous efforts to preserve peace and restore cordial good-will between that country and the United States. The source of our past difficulties with Spain and of our apprehensions of future danger is disclosed in the report of yourself and associates. The measure therein presented—the purchase of Cuba—is probably the only one which would with certainty place the relations of the two countries on the basis of enduring friendship. While the Island of Cuba remains a dependency of Spain, and the character of her rule over it is not changed—and a change for the better can hardly be anticipated—annoyance to our trade and difficulties between our citizens and the local authorities will be of frequent occurrence, and it is scarcely reasonable to expect that a peace thus rendered precarious will remain long unbroken, conceiving that the transfer of Cuba to the United States on the honorable conditions you have been instructed to offer would be as important to her as to them. It was hoped that you would find Her Catholic Majesty's Government disposed to receive and discuss a proposition for that purpose. The President desires you to keep this important object of your mission in view, and to enter upon negotiations in relation to it whenever a favorable opportunity occurs. It is no longer, I believe, a secret in Spain that the United States wish to obtain the cession, and that you have authority to treat on the subject. The knowledge of these facts will be likely to elicit opinions in regard to that measure, not only from the Ministers of Her Catholic Majesty's Government, but from other influential individuals of the nation. The Cortes will soon assemble, and that subject will undoubtedly be discussed by the members of that body in their social circles, if it does not become a subject of public deliberation. By a free and friendly intercourse among official and influential men, you will be enabled to determine the proper course to be pursued in regard to opening a negotiation for the acquisition of Cuba, should you find persons of position or influence disposed to converse on the subject, the considerations in favor of a cession are so many and so strong that those who can be brought to listen would very likely become converts to the measure. But should have reason to believe that the men in power are averse to entertaining such a proposition, that the offer of it would be offensive to the national pride of Spain, and that it would find no favor in any considerable class of the people, then it will be too evident that the time for opening or attempting to open such a negotiation has not arrived. It appears to the President that nothing could be gained and something might be lost, by an attempt to push negotiations against such a general resistance. This view of the case is taken on the supposition that you should become convinced that such a proposition for the cession of Cuba would certainly be rejected.

The language of some part of the report might perhaps be so construed as to sustain the inference that you and your associates in the Conference were of opinion that the proposition should be made, though there should be no chance of its being entertained, and that it should be accomplished with the open declaration of a significant suggestion that the United States were determined to have the Island, and would obtain it by other means, if their present advances, so advantageous, be refused by Spain—but other parts of the report repel this inference. The remark in that document that if Spain should refuse these proposals of the United States "the question will arise what ought to be the course of the American Government under such circumstances," clearly shows that it was intended by yourself and colleagues to recommend to the President to offer to Spain the alternative of cession or seizure. The conclusion that the members of the conference were against such an alternative proposition is also drawn from the following passage: "After we shall have offered Spain a price for Cuba, far beyond its present value, and this shall have been refused, it will then be time to consider the question: 'Does Cuba in possession of Spain seriously endanger our internal peace, and the existence of our cherished Union.'" The President concurs in this view of the subject, but to conclude that in the rejection of a proposition to cede, seizure should ensue, would be to assume that self-preservation necessitates the acquisition of Cuba by the United States—that Spain has refused, and will persist in refusing, our reclamations for injuries and wrongs inflicted, and that she will make no arrangement for our future security against the recurrence of similar injuries and wrongs. As to the first considerations, I will only remark that the acquisition of Cuba by the United States would be preeminently advantageous in itself, and of the highest importance as a precautionary measure of security. However much we might regret the want of success in our efforts to obtain the cession of it, that failure would not, without a material change in the condition of the island, involve imminent peril to the existence of our Government—but should the contingency suggested in your report ever arise, there is no reason to doubt that the case will be promptly met by the deliberate judgment and decisive action of the American people. In relation to outrages and injuries, this Government have good grounds to complain of the course hitherto pursued by Spain, and should that course be persisted in, it would be justified in resorting to coercive means to obtain redress, but the aspect of this branch of the subject has, however, lately somewhat changed, the present Cabinet of Spain having indicated a more favorable disposition in regard to demands for satisfaction and indemnity than that which preceded it. I do not attach much importance to the recent offer on the part of Spain, to institute a commission to settle all existing claims, such as now exists between the United States and Great Britain, because some of these claims are of such a character as self-respect would not permit us to submit to arbitrament in any form, you are, therefore, instructed to decline that offer. But as to the most aggravated, as well as the most recent case of outrage and injury—that of the Black Warrior—the door of adjustment can hardly be considered as closed. Although the late Minister of Foreign Relations rejected our demands in that case, the present Minister has clearly indicated a willingness to recede from the position of his predecessor. He asked for our views in writing, upon the reply which his Government had made to our demands, and accompanied his request with an assurance that he would take it into the most serious consideration, and act upon it. After refusal to comply with that request, this Government would not be in a situation to maintain that Spain persists in denying all satisfaction in the case of the Black Warrior. With his present lights upon the subject, the President's opinion as to the expediency of presenting to the Spanish Government his views contained in my dispatch to you of the 22d of June last, in answer to that reply, remain unchanged. It does not appear to him that the knowledge of those views can in any way injuriously affect the negotiations for the cession of Cuba. But, on the contrary, that case will show to Spain the difficulties she will be exposed to by continuing to maintain the present state of things in that island, and ought to be a strong inducement for her to yield to the change proposed to be made. There is another point in regard to the case of the Black Warrior, alluded to in your conversation with her Catholic Majesty's Minister of Foreign Relations on the 29th of August last, upon which the President directs me to express his impressions. Should the Spanish Government propose to settle the case of the Black Warrior, he would not consider the removal of Gen. PEZUELA and the other Spanish officers who acted in that affair, as presenting an invincible obstacle in the way of adjusting that difficulty. When he directed me to communicate with you on the subject in March last, he assumed that the Spanish Government would feel it to be due to the United States, as well as to Spain, to manifest its displeasure towards its Cuban officials, as soon as it should become aware of their gross misconduct. In that case, This reasonable expectation was clearly expressed to you in the dispatch of the 17th of March last, but he did not indicate in it any particular manner in which that displeasure should be manifested. In your note to the Spanish Minister of Foreign Relations, presenting the demand of your Government for satisfaction, you specified a particular mode in which her Catholic Majesty ought to exhibit her displeasure towards these offending officers, viz.: their dismission from office. As this would be a most emphatic manner of manifesting her displeasure at their conduct, this Government would have been well satisfied to have had it adopted, but the President does not wish you to assume the position that the case cannot now be adjusted in a manner satisfactory to the United States, if by a change of circumstances that precise mode cannot be literally adopted. There are other conceivable modes of punishing the official persons who participated in that outrage besides removal from office, which the Government of the United States might honorably accept, if a full satisfaction for the outrage and ample indemnity for injuries and losses were made. The dismissal of the implicated officials at Havana would have been a very appropriate manner of manifesting the displeasure of their Government at their misconduct, and would fully meet the President's expectation in this respect, but circumstances may so have changed that a strict compliance with the demand for this particular punishment has now become impossible. In that case, another manner of treating these wrong-doers by the Government of Spain, appropriately selected, may be satisfactory to the United States. The Minister of Foreign Relations having, in apparent good faith, officially declared that PEZUELA, the Captain General, and ARGUELLES, the Intendant of the Customs, were not removed from their official positions at Havana for the purpose of evading or defeating any part of our claim for redress, the fact of their having been already removed ought not, therefore, in the opinion of the President, to be regarded as presenting an insurmountable obstacle to the adjustment of the case of the Black Warrior. Should there be others in office who participated in the outrage in that case, it is still expected they will be dismissed for that cause. Such treatment will be but a slight punishment for their offence, and will have a salutary influence, it is hoped, upon their successors. The removal of General PEZUELA and ARGUELLES, on the assumption that it was not made with a view to embarrass the settlement of that case, does not deprive the Spanish Government of the ability to manifest its displeasure towards them, for the part they took in that aggravating wrong. Should the Government of Spain recede from the grounds taken in Mr. CALDERON'S note to you of the 7th of May last, disapprove of the conduct of the authorities at Havana in the case of the Black Warrior, disavow their acts, show in any appropriate manner its displeasure towards them on that account, and offer full indemnity for the losses and injuries which our citizens sustained in that affair, you will entertain these propositions and signify the willingness of your Government to adjust the case on such terms. In that event you will be furnished with proper instructions to bring it to a close. The claimants for compensation for damages for the arrest and detention of the Black Warrior are numerous, and their demands, some of them, are not properly sustained by proof, as Spain has not consented to indemnify them, they have not yet gone to the expense of preparing their respective claims for presentation. It is not expected that Spain will stop at the adjustment of the case of the Black Warrior. Our citizens have many other claims, originating from the conduct of her officials at Cuba which, in justice and honor, she is also bound to adjust. These must be pressed upon the attention of her Government, and they will also be prepared for presentation as soon as they can be after it is known that Spain is willing to adjust them. If the cession of Cuba has to be hopelessly abandoned for the present, another very important matter will come up for consideration. The United States have asked, and will most pertinaciously insist upon, some security against the future misconduct of the Spanish authorities at Cuba. Looking to the past, the reasonableness of this demand must be acknowledged by Spain. A compliance with it is but an act of justice to the United States, and of prudent precaution to herself. Giving Spain credit for the sincerity of her repeated and solemn assurances of an intention in all times past to respect the rights of this Government and the interests of our citizens, the failure of all her efforts to effect this object must convince her that there is some inherent defect in her present system of governing Cuba, and that its continuance will unavoidably lead to new difficulties. If Spain persists in maintaining her despotic administration over this dependency, situated so far beyond her immediate supervision, by vesting in her Captain-General powers which have been so often abused, it is incumbent upon her to provide for a direct appeal by the injured citizens of friendly powers to him for redress. There is no local public opinion to exercise a restraining influence over him in cases where foreigners are concerned, and no freedom of the press to expose and animadvert upon his misconduct. In regard to such foreigners, the present arrangement imposes no adequate responsibility upon this officer; and just causes of complaint will continually arise, as they have heretofore arisen, until some change is made in the present system. If the feelings of Spain towards this country are such as she professes—if she desires to perpetuate the relations of peace with the United States—she will yield to our just demands on this subject. Direct diplomatic intercourse by an agent of the United States with the Captain General of Cuba for the mere purpose of presenting grievances will not meet the exigences of the case. The Captain General must be under an efficient responsibility to redress the wrongs to our citizens, committed by his subordinates when brought to his notice. I have indicated what ought to be accomplished by such an arrangement. Should there be no hope of opening a negotiation for the acquisition of Cuba, you will present to the Government of Spain the importance of some arrangement for future security in regard to our trade and intercourse with Cuba, and state to her the objects to be secured by it. If she proposes a willingness to make such an arrangement, a plan in detail will be forwarded to you for the purpose of being laid before her Government. In resuming negotiations with Spain, you will in a firm, but respectful manner, impress upon the ministry that it is the determination of the President to have all the matters in controversy between her and the United States speedily adjusted. He is desirous to have it done by negotiation, and would exceedingly regret that a failure to reach the end he has in view in this peaceful way should devolve upon him the duty of recommending a resort to coercive measures to vindicate our national rights, and redress the wrongs of our citizens.

I am, Sir, respectfully, your obt serv't,
W. L. MARCY.

PIERRE SOULE, Excellency, etc., etc.

SOUTH AMERICAN TREATY.

Special Dispatch of the N. Y. Daily Times.

The following is the text of the Treaty with the Argentine Confederation, negotiated some time since, and which, having been ratified by the Senate of the United States, has been sent out to Paraguay for exchange of ratifications. It has never before been published. S.

The President of the United States and His Excellency, the Provincial Director of the Argentine Confederation, being desirous of strengthening the bonds of friendship which so happily subsist between their respective States and countries, and convinced that the surest means of arriving at this result, is to take in concert all the measures requisite for facilitating and developing commercial relations, have resolved to determine by treaty the conditions of free navigation of the Rivers Parana and Uruguay, and thus to remove the obstacles which have hitherto impeded this navigation.

With this object, they have named as their Plenipotentiaries, that is to say:

The President of the United States—ROBERT C. SCHENCK, Envoy Extraordinary and Minister Plenipotentiary of the United States to Brazil, and JOHN S. PENDLETON, Chargé d'Affaires of the United States to the Argentine Confederation;

And His Excellency, the Provisional Director of the Argentine Confederation—Doctor Don SALVADOR MARIA DEL CARRIL, and Doctor Don JOSE BENJAMIN GOROSTIAGA, who after having communicated to each other full powers, found in good and due form, have agreed upon the following articles:

ARTICLE I.

The Argentine Confederation, in the exercise of her sovereign rights, concedes the free navigation of the Rivers Parana and Uruguay, wherever they may belong to her, to the merchant vessels of all nations, subject only to the conditions expressed in this treaty, and to such regulations as have been established or may hereafter be established by the National authority of the Confederation.

ARTICLE II.

Consequently the said vessels shall be admitted to remain, load and unload in the places and ports of the Argentine Confederation, which are open for that purpose.

ARTICLE III.

The Government of the Argentine Confederation, being desirous to provide every facility for interior navigation, agree to maintain beacons and marks pointing out the channels.

ARTICLE IV.

A uniform system shall be established by the competent national authority of the Confederation, for the collection of the Custom-House duties, harbor, light-house, and pilotage dues along the whole course of the waters which belong to the Confederation.

ARTICLE V.

The high contracting parties, considering that the Island of Martin Garcia may, from its position, embarrass and impede the free navigation of the confluents of the River Platte, agree to use their influence to prevent the possession of the said island from being retained or held by any State of the River Platte or its confluents, which shall not have given its adhesion to the principle of their free navigation.

ARTICLE VI.

If it should happen (which God forbid) that war should break out between any of the States, Republics or Provinces of the River Platte, or its confluents, the navigation of the Rivers Parana and Uruguay shall remain free to the merchant flags of all nations, excepting in what may relate to munitions of war—such as arms of all kinds, gunpowder, lead and cannon balls.

ARTICLE VII.

Power is expressly reserved to His Majesty the Emperor of Brazil, and the Governments of Bolivia, Paraguay and the Oriental State of Uruguay, to become parties to the present treaty, in case they should be disposed to apply its principles to the parts of the Rivers Parana, Paraguay and Uruguay, over which they may respectively possess fluvial rights.

ARTICLE VIII.

The principal objects for which the Rivers Parana and Uruguay are declared free to the commerce of the world, being to extend the mercantile relations of the countries which border them, and to promote immigration, it is hereby agreed that no favor or immunity shall be granted to the flag or trade of any other nation which shall not equally extend to those of the United States.

ARTICLE IX.

The present treaty shall be ratified on the part of the Government of the United States within fifteen months from its date, and within two days by His Excellency the Provincial Director of the Argentine Confederation, who shall present it to the first Legislative Congress of the Confederation for its approbation. The ratification shall be exchanged at the Seat of Government of the Argentine Confederation within the term of eighteen months.

In witness whereof, the respective Plenipotentiaries have signed this treaty, and affixed thereto their seals.

The Brigadier Generalship—Know-Nothing Triumph.

Special Dispatch to the New-York Daily Times.

WASHINGTON, Monday, March 5, 1855.

It is now believed that the Brigadier Generalship will, in due time, be conferred on JEFFERSON DAVIS.

The Know-Nothings elected their ticket for Mayor, Aldermen and Councilmen, by a large majority, at Alexandria to-day. MAC.

The Last Outrage at Greytown.

WASHINGTON, Tuesday, March 6.

The party of Americans who were arrested by the Greytown people on the San Juan River were not filibusters, as a correspondent of the New-York DAILY TIMES hints, but American citizens engaged in a lawful and peaceful enterprise. The commander of the party, JULIUS DE BRISSOT, Esq., is well known in New-York and New-Orleans as the commander of the Atlantic Steamship Company's steamer El Dorado.

Captain DE BRISSOT was bound to Ecuador, being largely interested in the Gallipagos project, and selected the Costa Rica route as the shortest and best, and his friends were gentlemen who were desirous of traveling in that country with an eye to a future location there. It is rumored that Mr. FABENS, our Consul at San Juan, who is at present in Washington City, has brought depositions sworn to by the most respectable people in that neighborhood, fully corroborating these statements. We know that Col. KINNEY and Mr. FABENS have conferred together on the state of affairs on the Musquito coast, and that no obstacle exists there to an immediate permanence of the KINNEY enterprise, and the expedition is a fixed fact, and will soon start now that the road is clear.

The citizens of Washington have presented Senator DAWSON with a silver salver, pitcher, and goblets, in testimony for their services in providing for the City Water Works.

Supreme Court.

WASHINGTON, Tuesday, March 6.

Hon. N. P. BANKS, Jr., Massachusetts; DAVID A. NOBLE, Michigan, and CHARLES JAMES, of Wisconsin, were admitted Attorneys and Counselors of the Supreme Court.

No. 3 Original Docket.—State of Florida vs. The State of Georgia—On motion of the Attorney General, to intervene on behalf of the United States, Chief Justice TANEY delivered his opinion, granting leave to the Attorney General to adduce evidence, either written or otherwise, to examine witnesses, &c., to establish the boundary claimed by the United States.

No. 73.—Mary Lewis, administratrix, vs. Edward R. Bell, assignee, &c., on appeal from the Circuit Court of the District of Columbia. Judge GRIER delivered the opinion, affirming the decree of said Court with costs.

No. 86.—John C. Hays, plaintiff in error, vs. The Pacific Mail Steamship Company—Argument was concluded for the plaintiff in error.

No. 88.—W. D. Price, plaintiff in error, vs. The Farmers' Bank of Virginia—Cause was submitted on the record, and a printed argument by Hon. JOHN LETCHER for defendants.

The Election in New-Hampshire.

Special Dispatch to the New-York Daily Times.

NASHUA, N. H., Tuesday, March 6.

An immense public gathering of the Know-Nothings was held at the City Hall last night. Hundreds who came to hear could not gain admittance to the Hall. The people are intensely excited in the present canvass. Addresses were made by JOHN P. HALE, JOHN T. SWIFT, of the Massachusetts House of Representatives, and DAVID CROSS, of Manchester. The Administration party were thoroughly shown up, and the Nebraska infamy exposed. The American party are very sanguine of success. Mr. MORRISON commences stumping to-night, at this place. The Know-Nothing Convention at Concord to-day promises to be large.

Anti-Administration Convention in New-Hampshire.

CONCORD, N. H., Tuesday, March 6—3 P. M.

The People's Anti-Administration Convention is now in session here. The two largest Halls in the City are filled to overflowing, and several thousands of persons are in the streets. Hon. JOHN P. HALE is speaking in the Phenix Hall. And Hon. GEORGE NESMITH in the Depot Hall. The greatest enthusiasm prevails.

The meeting dissolved about 10 o'clock. Not less than 6,000 persons were present. Besides Messrs. HALE and NESMITH, Ex-Governor COLBY, JONATHAN KITTREDGE, THOMAS M. EDWARDS, A. J. FLETCHER, EDWARD A. STEVENS and others, addressed the meeting. So large a political gathering in the Capital of the Granite State has not been since the days of "Tippecanoe and Tyler too." The best feeling pervaded the immense assembly, and all opponents of the Administration are sanguine of a complete triumph at the election on Tuesday next.

Judge Loring's Case.

BOSTON, Tuesday, March 6.

The Legislative Committee on Judge LORING'S case, were in session six hours to-day. THEODORE PARKER, for the petitioners, advocated the removal mainly on the ground of a violation of the moral law; also for violation of a law of the State, and for justifying such a violation. R. H. DANA, Jr., in an elaborate argument of four hours, contended that the power of removal by address was intended only for extreme cases, and had been exercised in one instance only in 75 years, and that from incompetency from old age. If exercised in this case by a party, another party of a different character might make this a precedent, and remove from office for no good reason. He doubted whether the removal would be proper, expedient or reasonable: and argued that it would impair the integrity of the Judiciary, and would be a violation of the spirit of the Constitution. WENDELL PHILLIPS closed the hearing for the petitioners, citing mainly the arguments used by him on a former occasion.

Defeat of the Know-Nothings at Oswego, New-York.

OSWEGO, Tuesday, March 6.

The election which took place here to-day was very exciting. The entire Know-Nothing vote was thrown for SAMUEL J. HOLLEY, the Soft-Shell candidate for Mayor. The Whig and foreign votes were thrown for LITTLEJOHN, who is elected by nearly five hundred majority. It is reported the Know-Nothings spent $3,000 with the hope of gaining the day. Continual fighting is going on over the city this evening.

Triumph of Know-Nothings at Auburn, N. Y.

AUBURN, N. Y., Tuesday, March 6.

The election in this City to-day has resulted in the triumph of the Know-Nothings over the People's ticket.

The Know-Nothing candidate for Mayor has a majority of about 200 over his opponent.

The Know-Nothings are in high glee this evening at the result.

Defeat of the American Ticket in Newport, (Ky.)—Passage of the Free and State Bank Bills of Indiana, &c.

CINCINNATI, Tuesday, March 6.

The Municipal Election yesterday in Newport, Kentucky, resulted in the defeat of the American ticket.

The Indiana Legislature has passed the State Bank bill and the Free Bank bill over the Governor's veto, and they are now laws.

Know-Nothings in Massachusetts.

BOSTON, Tuesday, March 6.

At the Town Elections, held throughout the State yesterday, the Know-Nothings appear to have fully sustained the ascendency they acquired last Fall. Of the fifty towns heard from, they have carried at least forty.

Election at Syracuse.

SYRACUSE, Tuesday, March 6.

LYMAN STEVENS, Democrat and Fusionist, has been elected Mayor by about 400 majority. The whole fusion ticket has been carried triumphantly. Six Fusionist Aldermen and Supervisors out of eight are elected. There is great rejoicing here this evening, bonfires are blazing, and processions with bands of music are parading through the streets. The town of Cazenovia has gone Whig.

Election at Rochester.

ROCHESTER, (N. Y.) Tuesday, March 6.

C. J. HAYDEN, the Know-Nothing candidate for Mayor, has been elected to-day by over 100 majority. Six anti-Hindoo Aldermen were also elected. Five Hindoo and five anti-Hindoo Supervisors have probably been chosen. The towns of Brighton, Pittsford, and Bergen, went Whig.

Municipal Election, &c.

UTICA, Tuesday, March 6.

HENRY H. FISH, Whig, has been elected Mayor of Hamilton by about 400 majority. Three Whig and three Democratic Aldermen have been elected.

CHENANGO COUNTY—In Norwich, Oxford and Shelburne, the entire Know-Nothing tickets were elected.

Detroit Municipal Election.

DETROIT, Tuesday, March 6.

The election returns show that LEDYARD, the Democratic candidate for Mayor, has a majority of about 600. The first, second, fifth and sixth wards elect Independent candidates for Aldermen. The Democrats elect their candidates for Aldermen in the other wards.

Municipal Election.

TROY, Tuesday, March 6.

JOHN A. GRISWOLD, Democrat and Anti-Know-Nothing, has been elected Mayor by about 200 majority, over SLOCUM, Whig. The Irish vote was unprecedentedly large.

Municipal Nomination.

BANGOR, Tuesday, March 6.

At People's Canvass this evening, JOHN T. K. HAYWOOD was nominated for Mayor, by a vote of 479 against 460 for WILLIAM H. MILLS.

The town elections throughout the State, so far as heard from, have resulted in favor of the Know-Nothings. In the city of Bath they elected their Mayor, FREEMAN H. MORSE, and the entire City Council.

Disastrous Squall.

ELMIRA, Tuesday, March 6.

We were visited by a regular West India white squall last night. Chimneys were blown down, houses unroofed, &c. The car-house of the Williamsport and Elmira Railroad was blown down, destroyed, and the engine injured. Everything in the shape of signs, boxes, &c., has been scattered in beautiful confusion.

MCCOY'S hotel, near the depot, took fire during the night, and sustained considerable damage. This morning the weather is clear, mild and Spring-like.

Mail Agent Shot.

RICHMOND, Tuesday, March 6.

The mail agent between Raleigh and Weldon, named MCGOWEN, was yesterday attacked by three men for a trifling debt. During the melee MCGOWEN was shot by his assailants, and received no less than six balls in his head and body. When the train left he was supposed to be in a dying condition.

Naval Intelligence.

NORFOLK, Tuesday, March 6.

The United States sloop-of-war Jamestown, which sailed for the coast of Africa last week, has been recalled from Hampton Roads, said to be unseaworthy. The crew will be transferred to the Constellation, which can be got ready for sea in ten days. The friends of the officers of the Decatur have given up all hopes of her safety.

The Southern Mail.

BALTIMORE, Tuesday, March 6.

The Southern Mail, as late as due, has arrived here with New-Orleans papers of Wednesday. They contain no news.

The weather had been in South Carolina cold beyond precedent. The average temperature during four mornings of last week was only 19° above zero, giving everything the appearance of mid-winter.

The Pork Trade.

CINCINNATI, Tuesday, March 6.

The Price Current publishes to-day a complete statement of the number of hogs packed in Ohio, Kentucky, and Tennessee. The totals are over 1,336,000, against 1,788,000 from same places last year—deficiency, 451,000. The falling off in weight is estimated at 8 per cent., making the total deficiency equal in number to 556,000.

Fire in Brooklyn—[illegible]

A fire broke out between 3 and 4 o'clock yesterday morning in a house in Myrtle-avenue, Brooklyn, occupied by [illegible] as a bakery, and, notwithstanding the Fire Department having arrived without loss of time, the flames spread to the adjoining buildings, three of which, along with that in which the fire originated, were completely destroyed. The roof of a building belonging to and occupied by PATRICK MCLAUGHLIN was also consumed.

The following is a list of the losses as far as can be ascertained: THOMAS BROWN, owner of all the houses, except MCLAUGHLIN'S, loss $2,000—no insurance. PATRICK MCLAUGHLIN, loss $1,500—insured. S. LAMB, clothing store, dwelling, and also shoe store, loss $1,500—insured in New-York City Insurance Company. JAMES MCKENZIE, hardware store and dwelling, loss $800—fully insured in Rutger Insurance Company, New-York. THOMAS MARTIN, loss $1,000—fully insured in Hartford Insurance Company.

Shocking Murder in St. Louis.

From the St. Louis Republican, March 1.

ROBERT MC O'BLENIS, well known in this city for the general recklessness of his conduct, yesterday shot and killed BENJAMIN F. BRAND, a Deputy County Marshal, in the bar-room of the Planter's House. The circumstances more immediately connected with the killing, will be found in the evidence taken at the Coroner's inquest, which is annexed. The act was committed about noon—O'BLENIS being there at that time with one or two companions, drinking. The deceased, as one of the witnesses testifies, being under the influence of liquor, came in and reproached O'BLENIS with having used some coarse language towards him. This brought on a reply, and a few harsh epithets, and a banter to fight passed between them. As BRAND was leaning on the counter, O'BLENIS drew a revolver and commenced firing, continuing until four balls were discharged, all of them taking effect, one in BRAND'S hand, another breaking his wrist, the third entering the arm near the shoulder, the fourth and fatal ball penetrated his side, and passing through the lungs, into which a piece of the rib was driven, and lodging in the back bone. The wounded man fell instantly, and was removed to an apartment to the left of the bar, and Drs. CORNYN and MARTHANS summoned. A revolver pistol, which as an officer, and as all officers do, he was accustomed to carry, fell upon the floor, every barrel being found still charged when examined after the occurrence. Some of the witnesses examined testified that the pistol was drawn by BRAND simultaneously with the act of O'BLENIS, but the statement conflicts with that of EDWARD CLEGG, the last witness called by the Coroner.

BRAND survived until 4 o'clock, and recovered consciousness before death, but said nothing, except an occasional complaint about the pain of his wounds. The body was removed to the residence of his family, Dr. CORNYN first instituting an examination and preparing a statement for the Coroner's Jury. The inquest closed early at night, five witnesses being subpoenaed for examination.

The verdict announced was, that deceased, BENJAMIN F. BRAND, "came to his death by a pistol shot from the hands of ROBERT MCO'BLENIS."

Half an hour after the occurrence, County Marshal TIMBERLAKE, to whom the deceased was brother-in-law, accompanied by Deputy Constable MOUNT, took O'BLENIS into custody, and went before Justice BUTLER of the Third Ward. BLENNERHASSETT and SHREVE made application for his admission to bail. Mr. MCBRIDE, City Attorney, acting for the prosecution, resisting. After the evidence of a few witnesses was heard, the argument of council began and continued until 7½ o'clock at night, when an adjournment was moved until to-day, and O'BLENIS committed to jail until the hearing of the application is resumed.

ARRISON, THE INFERNAL MACHINE MAN.—The Cincinnati Commercial, of Saturday, says that this unfortunate man, as the day approaches on which he is to expiate his terrible crime by the death penalty, evinces by his haggard countenance and altered demeanor, that he begins to realize all the horrors of his condition. Remorse seems to be busy at work with his conscience.

NOTICES OF NEW BOOKS.

POEMS AND LETTERS OF MARY E. CHASE. Henry Fowler, Editor. Boston: Ticknor & Fields.

This book is a memorial of a young lady who lived among the hills of Columbia County, in Chatham, N. Y. We have looked it over with pleasure, finding in it much to interest us, not of eventful history and incident indeed, but of earnestness of character and originality and freshness of thought and feeling. We lay it down, wishing that we had known her, and glad that we have known of her through its means. The poems are sweet and graceful,—they pretend to be nothing more. From a collection of short pieces, which she had made for her aged father, and called "Light for the Aged," we select the following—a pretty fair specimen of the whole:

"Children's Children are the Crown of Old Men; and the Glory of Children are their Fathers."—Proverbs, xvii. 6.

An old man sat in the sunset gold,
By the door of a cottage low;
His soft, white hair, his reverent air,
His holy smile, all told
His work was finished below.

Children played at the old man's feet,
Three gentle, blue-eyed girls;
Their mother had played in that cottage shade,
With footsteps light and fleet,
And waving golden curls.

His heart was warm toward that little band,
Bright in the setting sun;
And he said, "Oh, Lord! I trust thy word,
I see the promised land,
And I know that my work is done.

I thank thee for the pleasant ways
In which my feet have trod;
I bless for all, both great and small,
But most for thee, I praise
Thy goodness, oh! my God!"

Then a matron stepped from the cottage-door,
A matron fair to see;
Her hand she laid on the old man's head:
"Father, I thank God o'er and o'er,
But bless him most for thee!"

The letters, forty-eight in number, are the most interesting portion of the book—as letters, they are well worthy of study to any one who would write letters well. She must have been a correspondent after one's own heart. The profits arising from the sale of the book are to be applied to some educational or charitable purpose. We hope it may be the means of much good.

POEMS. By [illegible]. Boston: Ticknor & Fields. 16mo. pp. [illegible].

The longest of these poems is entitled The Temptation of Venus. The remaining ones are all short and of various excellence. The following Sonnets give a fair specimen of the author's manner:

On the Refusal of the Legislature of a Neighboring State to appropriate any amount for the Erection of a Monument to the Memory of a Distinguished Statesman.

I.

Ye cannot add by any pile ye raise,
One jot or tittle to the Statesman's fame;
That the world knows—to the far-future days
Belongs his glory, and its radiant flame
Will burn, when ye are dead, decayed, forgot;
Therefore, your opposition matters not;
And the [illegible] jealousies of present time,
[illegible] in his grave, striving to keep
[illegible] the hate HE deemed his highest praise,
And the rude clash of discord o'er his sleep,
[illegible]
All that the soul of genius sanctifies,
Those heights where viler passions cannot climb,
Those live where palsied malice faints and dies.

II.

Still must the [illegible] voice denounce the deed,
The common heart swell with an outraged pride,
That the poor purchase of the paltry meed
His country owed him, should be thus denied;
Shame on the Senate! Shame on every hand
Which did not falter when recording there
The basest act achieved for many a year,
To fire the scorn of the whole Southern land;
Nor the South only, for our foes will cry,
"Out! on your petty, pasteboard chivalry;
The people who refuse to crown the great
[illegible] with honors, do themselves eclipse,"
And doubly shameless is the recreant State,
Whose condemnation comes from her own lips!

SPIRITUALISM. By John W. Edmonds and Geo. T. Dexter, M. D. Vol. 2. New-York: Partridge & Brittan.

During the preparation of the first volume, Dr. D. was simply a writing medium. In preparing this he has been used as a speaking medium also—"being thrown into a trance so deep as to be utterly unconscious of all occurring about him and of what he says at the time." The circle through which the investigations here recorded were prosecuted consisted of Judge Edmonds, his daughter Laura, his niece Jane Keyes, Dr. Dexter, Mr. Warren, and Mr. and Mrs. Sweet, with the addition occasionally of a Mrs. A. T. Hall and Mrs. Helen Leeds, of Boston. Bacon, Swedenborg, Washington, a Druidess, a murderer, &c., are the spirits who "use" the different members of the circle. The communications are of very different orders of merit. Some are didactic, pointless lectures. Some are good ghost stories. Some remind us of the dreams of drunken sailors, who, in their disturbed sleep, go cruising into the caves of mermaids at the bottom of the ocean. Some are of the high-falutin' kind; some would be no more sensible if written by men in their sound senses. The volume is not otherwise than entertaining, and should be preserved for purposes of history. When the story of this strange delusion is written out, there will be need of such volumes as this to make credible the honest assertions of those who write unvarnished truths from the record.

POSITIVE MEDICAL AGENTS—Being a Treatise on the Alkaline, Resinoid, and Concentrated Preparations of Indigenous and Foreign Medical Plants. By authority of the American Chemical Institute. New-York: B. Keith & Co., proprietors and publishers, No. [illegible]-street. Pp. [illegible].

The title tells the pretensions of the book, but one must read it to see how little of what is valuable in it is new, and how little of what is new in it is valuable. From the time of Hippocrates much has been practiced daily which this book urges the profession to practice, as if now for the first time the advice were given. Still no physician can read it through and give rein to his meditations, as he reads, without being the better for it.

ECHOES OF LEISURE HOURS WITH THE GERMAN POETS. By A. C. Kendrick. Rochester: Wm. N. Sage. New-York: J. S. Dickerson.

These are translations from Schiller, Goethe, Koerner, Herder, Uhland, Salis, Jacobi, and a few from Beranger. They compare very favorably with other translations, and with most of them the Professor has succeeded in bringing over into the English both their forms and spirit. "Hero and Leander" (Schiller's) we have never seen more happily rendered. Decidedly the least pleasantly translated of any in these collections are the first two—"The Pilgrims" and "Longings."

THE WORLD A WORKSHOP; OR, THE PHYSICAL RELATIONS OF THE EARTH. By Thos. Ewbank, Author of "Hydraulics and Mechanics." New-York: D. Appleton & Co., Nos. 346 and 348 Broadway. Dedicated to workingmen.

An able and useful little work by one well-known in the world of scientific inventions, the late Commissioner of Patents. It is full of instruction and suggestion.

Harper's Gazetteer of the World has reached its tenth and last number. To keep the engagement that ten numbers should finish the set, it was found necessary to make this tenth a thick volume itself of [illegible] pages. The map in this number is a large one of the United States. No intelligent reader can be satisfied with a Gazetteer of ten years of age, since in investigating or casually reading up the condition of the world as it now is, he feels an absolute necessity of consulting often the latest census returns, the commercial statistics of the last years, and the political changes of every portion of the world down to the latest dates. So far as we have been able to discover, the very latest information of these sorts has been embodied in Harper's Statistical Gazetteer. The portion of the work relating to Europe, Asia, and Africa, has been compiled, rewritten, and modified from Johnston's noted General Gazetteer of the World. Much that concerns our own continent is essentially new [illegible] partment we do not think that the work has [illegible] that is equally compact, accessible and cheap.

Mr. Dodd has issued the thirteenth thousand of the first series of Dr. Spencer's "Pastor's Sketches," and the sixth thousand of the second series. The same publisher is preparing for early publication Sermons by the late Dr. Spencer, together with a Memoir of Dr. S. by Rev. J. M. Sherwood, former editor of the Biblical Repository; the whole to be embraced in two duodecimo volumes. These forthcoming volumes, we are assured, will not only sustain the high reputation now held by Dr. Spencer, but they will extend still wider the fame acquired by him as author of "A Pastor's Sketches."

We have received from Mr. John J. [illegible], No. 1[illegible] Bible House, the Report of the trial for alleged malpractice against Dixi Crosby, M. D., Surgical Professor in Dartmouth. The accident from which this suit resulted occurred in the Spring of 18[illegible]. By the statute of limitations in Vermont such suits are outlawed in six years. The writ was issued within two days of that time. In May, '53, the trial came on, and a Jury of men, presumed at the time to be intelligent, found a verdict against the Doctor, and assessed damages to the amount of $800 and costs. On a second trial a verdict was given for the defendant.

Lieut. R. S. Smith, U. S. A., of West Point, has prepared an excellent Manual of Topographical Drawing. It goes into the minutiae of the matter, tells how to adjust the paper, what pencils to use, how to construct the lines and angles; what to avoid, what to set down; how to represent hills and hollow slopes, chasms, woods, arable land, &c. It treats of scales, meridians, horizontal curves, soundings and the like, the very reading of which makes one long to be at the work he so admirably instructs us in. John Wiley is the publisher.

Wm. L. Crandal, just before his death saw through the press and published his Three Hours School a Day. It contains some important truths and many statements which we deem erroneous. The second part of the volume is made up of short and disconnected paragraphs concerning education. Mr. Crandal was an honest man, and he writes with great independence. His hatred of the State Normal School is often thrust forward in course of the book.

A gentleman of this City is at present engaged in the preparation of an autobiographical sketch of Scott's campaign in Mexico, which will probably be issued during the coming Summer, in season for the opening of the Fall trade. The author was attached to the staff of one of the most distinguished volunteer regiments, and had ample opportunities for observation. A very readable book may be anticipated, on a subject which has been too little written upon.

The Right Rev. Horatio Southgate has permitted to be collected and published by Pudney & Russell his Essays on the War in the East, which were printed from time to time in the Churchman. He argues that there was not sufficient ground for the war which the Allies are prosecuting. Those who would like to see the bearing of this war upon the interest of the Oriental churches will do well to get a copy.

Lindsay & Blakiston announce the following works: Diseases of the Heart and the Aorta, by Wm. Stokes, M. D. A new edition. The Book of Prescriptions, containing 2,900 prescriptions, &c. by Henry Beasley. Todd's Clinical Lectures on Diseases of the Brain and Nervous System. Todd's Clinical Lectures on certain diseases of the Urinary Organs, and Dropsies.

Redfield has published a new and beautiful edition, in four volumes, of the celebrated Memoirs of the Life, Exile and Conversations of the Emperor Napoleon, by the Count de Las Cases, with portraits and other illustrations. The volumes are of the duodecimo size, admirably "got up," and made easily available by a minute index of subjects.

Dr. Baird's excellent Christian Retrospect and Register, or summary of scientific, moral and religious progress of the first half of the nineteenth century, has passed to its fifth edition. A supplementary chapter brings down the work to the latest dates, and a full index is appended. The Retrospect is invaluable. Published by M. W. Dodd.

Ticknor and Fields have published a capital book for boys—a 16mo. of 360 pages—under the title of The Forest Exiles, or the Perils of a Peruvian Family amid the Wilds of the Amazon, by Capt. Mayne Reid. A few books of this sort put into the hands of lads will remove from them all temptation ever to pronounce Geography a dull study.

Adam G. de Gurowski, a citizen of the United States and a full believer in the Czar's entire superiority over all enemies, has shown in an able and eloquent pamphlet, entitled A Year of the Wars, how his prophecies of a year ago have all come true. Published by Appletons.

The Board of Publication of the Reformed Dutch Church (No. 337 Broadway) has issued its first publication, "The Psalms of David." It is accompanied with metrical versions of the psalms, also, and a variety of tunes. The volume is well got up and prepared, evidently with much care.

D. J. Sadlier & Co. republish Fabiola or the Church of the Catacombs, by "His Eminence Cardinal Wiseman." It consists of a series of pictures of the Catholic Church at the opening of the Fourth Century. It is a pretty good Church novel.

Robert Carter & Brothers publish a handsome 8vo. of 508 pages, entitled The Truth and the Life, being twenty-two Sermons by Rt. Rev. C. P. McIlvaine, D. D., Bishop of the Protestant Episcopal Church in the Diocese of Ohio.

C. Shepard & Co., No. 152 Fulton-street, send us F. A. Adams' first book in Arithmetic, translated into French by Edward Coumont. Both author and translator have shown themselves competent for their undertaking.

Edward Dunnigan has published, in handsome pamphlet form, the substance of a discourse delivered Jan. 14, by John M. Forbes of New-York, in St. Peter's Church, on The Immaculate Conception of the Blessed Virgin Mary.

S. S. & W. Wood, No. 261 Pearl-street, send us a copy of their catalogue of books for sale—a pamphlet of 150 pages. They have, we suspect, the most extensive collection of medical books in this country.

A new edition of Rev. Mr. Mattison's lively Spirit Rappings Unveiled, just issued by Derby, has an appendix that overhauls the author's critics, and brings down the history of this delusion to the present time.

The School of Christ; or, Christianity viewed in its leading aspects, is the title of a volume by Rev. A. L. R. Foote, which is published by Sheldon, Lamport & Blakeman. For sale by A. D. F. Randolph.

Mason & Brothers publish the Musical Album—a vocal class-book, prepared for female seminaries, academies and high schools, by Geo. F. Root. It will prove highly popular, we have not a doubt.

The Coquet; or, the History of Eliza Wharton, is an old novel founded on fact, which our mothers read with delight in their young days. Wm. P. Fetridge & Co. bring out a new edition.

Fowlers & Wells publish a spirited little volume entitled the Way of Life, showing the right way and wrong way contrasted. Its author is Rev. G. S. Weaver. There is much good advice in it.

Livingston's Monthly Law Library has arranged to make each number embrace much more matter than heretofore. It is said to have a good circulation. Price $3 a year.

A pamphlet entitled A Historical Review of the New-York and Erie Railroad, by Eleazar Lord, is making some stir. Mason Brothers publish it.

Carter & Brothers publish a little volume called The Life of Jesus, by the author of Morning and Night Watches.

Appleton issues the first of a new series of reading books from the pen of Dr. Mandeville.

Crosby, Nichols & Co have brought out a second series of Thoughts to Help and Cheer.

CITY PAUPERS.

The Ten Governors—A Fierce Talk all About "Sam."

A regular weekly meeting of the Governors of the Almshouse was held in the Rotunda yesterday afternoon, Governor Townsend, President, in the Chair.

A communication was received from Mr. Fitch, Warden of the Almshouse, announcing that he had removed the gardener of the Institution under his charge, in conformity with a resolution of the Board authorizing the removal from place under the Department, of all persons not citizens of the United States.

The Warden's communication gave rise to some discussion.

Governor Draper hoped the Board would reconsider their action empowering the Wardens to act as Warden Fitch had acted. Why was the gardener removed? Had he not performed his duties to the Department faithfully and well? He had. The only reason for his removal was because he was a foreigner—because five years ago he happened to be in a land other than this. The removal of a man from a place which he had competently filled, for such a cause, he was decidedly opposed to; it was un-American, illiberal and unmanly. We did not inquire of Lafayette and other men who assisted this country to gain its freedom and place it in the position it now occupies, from what nation they came. He hoped his young friend on his right (Governor Taylor) would not record his name for a vote which he would regret less than ten years hence. He spoke at further length in the same strain, condemning Know-Nothingism in strong language, of which party, as an American, he felt himself ashamed. He thought that in view of the spirit now so rampant, it might be found necessary to import some high-minded foreigners to instruct us in our duties as American citizens. He moved for adoption the following resolution:

Resolved, That no person in the employ of this Department shall be removed by any Warden or Superintendent, or any other officer, without submitting to the Board of Governors, for its action, the name and ground of removal, and further, that no special birth-right shall be considered as any ground of removal from office.

Governor West felt proud to hear the veteran Governor speak as he had. He had covered the whole ground so thoroughly, that any further remarks on the same side were unnecessary. The views expressed by Governor Draper were the only views consistent with Americanism and liberality.

Governor Duke believed that much might be said on the question under consideration. Governor Draper expressed much sympathy for those non-citizens who had been turned out of employment. Were not those unemployed American citizens entitled to sympathy also? Why should persons not citizens be employed in situations under the gift of the Department, while American citizens, capable and industrious, were idle? He should feel very much disposed to doubt the integrity of any man who would solicit or accept a living from a Government to which he was not in allegiance. The remarks of Governor Draper, in reference to the probable necessity of importing foreigners to instruct us in our duties as American citizens, surprised him. It reminded him of one distinguished foreigner who came here and assumed to instruct us in our duties. The opinion of the American people on that man was well understood. For his part, he regarded him (Kossuth,) as an impudent impostor. He felt a little astonished that the President of the New-England Society, a Society which meets once or twice a year to talk about "our ancestors," (he meant the Yankees' ancestors,) and "Plymouth Rock," should be so very anxious for the well-being of foreigners. Governor Draper warned his "young friend on the right," that he would regret his vote for the removal of non-citizens from office in less than ten years. He would advise Governor Draper that he might regret, in a much less time than ten years, his course on the subject.

Governor Smith offered to amend the resolution before the Board, so that it should provide "that all future appointments shall be citizens, except female employés."

Governor West—Why except the women? Are they not foreigners?

Governor Taylor—Yes, but they have no votes.

Governor Smith—Good; that is the answer exactly.

Governor West—Oh, I see. This, then, is a mere electioneering affair.

Governor West—Yes, that's so. Vote the amendment down.

The question on the amendment being taken, was lost by the following vote—4 Ayes, 5 Noes:

Ayes—Governors Duke, Taylor, Tiemann, Smith—4.
Noes—Governors Townsend, Draper, West, Dugro, Henry—5.

Governor Draper's resolution was then put and carried by a vote similar to that by which the amendment was lost.

Governor Duke then offered a resolution asking the Wardens for statistics of the number of employés in the Department not citizens of the United States.

Governor Draper hoped the resolution would not be passed. He believed it to be another "move" of that "party" to carry out their views.

Governor Duke said it was no "move." His only object in offering it was to obtain statistical information of the Board.

Governor Draper thought from the remarks made around him, that a different object——

Governor Duke—Do you mean to contradict me?

Governor Draper—Oh, no, because you are a heavier man than I am. I only say, that from the remarks made around me, I am led to conclude that your party have some other object in view than simply to obtain statistical information.

Governor Duke—My "party," Sir! I am not a Know-Nothing. I am a Whig—a "Henry Clay," "Silver Gray" Whig.

On motion of Governor Tiemann, the subject was laid on the table till the next meeting.

A communication was received from the Superintendent of the Workhouse, enclosing a writ of habeas corpus containing the names of three young women (model artists) who were discharged from the Workhouse by Judge Stuart, on the 1st inst., because "they were jointly convicted of vagrancy, which cannot be done as matter of law, justice, or fact," and also two commitments of Judge Stuart while he was a Police Justice, in one of which he has jointly committed five males, and in the other six males, "which (the Superintendent thinks) would seem to show that his convictions or commitments as a magistrate are at variance with his decision as a Judge." The Superintendent also says: "I also enclose a writ of certiorari, by virtue of which I am commanded to show cause why Isabella Connor and Eliza Hogan are detained, and which has Judge Stuart's order for their discharge endorsed thereon, but no reason assigned." These frequent discharges are getting to be a serious matter, as a majority of the girls thus discharged have been placed on the razor-strop contract, and have worked less than twenty days, which, according to the contract, prevents our charging anything for their services.

The Committee on Bellevue Hospital reported a long report recommending alterations in the internal affairs of that institution. The report was adopted and ordered to be printed.

The Special Committee on the differences between the Board and the Commissioners of Emigration submitted the following report, which was adopted and ordered to be printed:

That in the Annual Report of the Commissioners of Emigration, adopted at a regular meeting of that Board, (Jan. 31, 1855,) the following passage occurs in connection with an exhibit of "the amount of debt at the close of the year 1854, on bond and mortgage:"

"The residue (of a sum of $35,000) consists of the claim of the Governors of the New-York Almshouse for the support of insane persons chargeable to the commutation fund. In the view of the Commission, this amount is subject to considerable deductions, and a large offset for the support of native children born of immigrant mothers, and taken care of in the Nursery Department at Ward's Island, for which they have not been able to make any arrangement with the New-York Almshouse Department. The Commissioners have proposed and are anxious to adjust these and other differences which have arisen between the two Boards, by an arbitration or amicable suit."

Some account of the nature and history of these "differences" seems to the Committee to be called for here; the story is short, plain and true.

In a statement on the subject of immigrant paupers, made to you on the 19th of December last, you were reminded of the agreement by which this Board consented, very early in the administration, to receive and provide for all the lunatics whom the Commissioners of Emigration were and are required to support. In consideration of that service, those Commissioners engaged to pay, and for a time did pay, to the Almshouse Department, the sum of $2 a week for each and every such patient. On the 1st December, 1849, the charge was reduced to $1 50, in deference to certain representations made to the Ten Governors by one who is still on that commission, to the effect that the charge of $2 was excessive and much greater than the cost of supporting the foreign lunatic paupers. On these latter terms the engagement still remains. Meantime, however, the debt of the Commissioners to this Department, on account of such service, has rapidly accumulated, and their payments have quite ceased, though they continue to enjoy, to the fullest extent, every advantage of the contract. You have seen that our estimates for appropriations have been usually predicated on these required reimbursements, (Appendix E,) and that in consequence of the remissness of the Commissioners, our accounts have at times displayed some trifling but vexatious confusion. On referring to page 15 of the statement of December 19, [Appendix 3 H,] you will find that the sum of $1,4[illegible] 64, due to this Department by the Commissioners of Emigration for December, 1851, was not paid until August 16, 1852; that $1,7[illegible] due for April, 1852, remained unpaid until July 7, 1853; that $2,4[illegible] 64, in like manner due for May, 1852, was not finally reimbursed to us until October 1[illegible], 1853; nor was the amount ($2,575 21) due for January and February, 1853, all paid before June 3, 1854. In consequence of such repeated short-comings on the part of that Board, it appeared necessary for us to come to other and safer terms with them. Accordingly on [illegible] March, 1853, a new agreement [Appendix H] was made between the two Boards, by which the Governors of the Almshouse consented to receive and support at the Lunatic Asylum, Small-pox Hospital, and Bellevue Hospital, all insane, or sick and destitute persons, legally chargeable to the Commissioners of Emigration, and to bury their dead in Potter's Field; and, on the other hand, the Commissioners formally stipulated to make payment to this Department on the 15th day of each month, of all bills presented on the 5th, the Governors to accept their due-bill in the event of an insufficiency of funds in the Exchequer of Emigration. That contract is still in force, and, of course, must legally continue to be, until the party for whose benefit it was made, shall have fairly complied with its requirements. The present large indebtedness of the Commissioners to this Department has been incurred under an indulgent construction of its terms by our Board.

We next come to the "large offset for the support of native children born of immigrant mothers, [Appendix D and L,] and taken care of in the Nursery Department at Ward's Island." Allusion is here had to the offspring of immigrant women, pregnant at the time of their landing and, in some instances, almost in labor at the moment of entering this Institution. Although the question of the nativity of such incidental products, or, at all events, of their claims, as American citizens, on American institutions, is a nice, and a much-vexed question, and full of interest at this crisis, we have hitherto entertained it only with reluctance, and are certainly not prepared to discuss it now. Enough that this "offset" has not been supported by any facts and figures, any dates, and items and amounts, and therefore that we know of no such charges on our charity. Moreover, the Committee would respectfully call your attention, in this connection, to Section 10 of the Revised Law, [Appendix 3 D,] concerning passengers in vessels, which is significant. This Department is, and has ever been, prepared to provide for all infants whose mothers have died, or are disabled. Such are properly chargeable to us, and are in all instances cheerfully received. The Governors of the Almshouse have now at nurse in various parts of their jurisdiction, 130 children, too tender to be sent to their institutions.

There are yet other "offsets" that the Commissioners have hitherto urged, but about which a wise silence is observed in their recent report. One is in the case of immigrant lunatics (Appendix L), provided for by us at our Asylum, but manifestly chargeable to the Commissioners of Emigration, who, however, refuse to allow for them, on the ground that they are "not in their books," although the reports of our resident physician establish, indisputably, the fact of their arrival in this country within the specified period of five years, and furnish the required details of dates, and ships, and ports, gathered from their friends, or from diligent and repeated examinations of the patients themselves in their lucid intervals. Certainly, the results of such careful inquiry are more reliable than any imperfect conclusions at which the Agents of the Commissioners may arrive by way of an incoherent account, procured from an insane person in a single hearing. Observe, that no buildings have, as yet, been erected or provided by the Commissioners for the reception of their lunatics, and that, consequently, these have, in all cases, fallen to the charge of this Department. More than one hundred such unfortunates are now provided for by our Board.

Another "offset." The Commissioners deny their responsibility for the numerous foreign vagrants committed to our Institutions as such, because the strict construction of their views, or their personal convenience, will not define such immigrants to be paupers. Our argument is to be found in the history of any one of the thousands of such vagrants. [Appendix, 3 T.] He lands here destitute, or nearly so; perhaps his poverty is not sufficiently appalling to constitute a claim on the Commissioners. He is without employment or fixed habitation. He contracts, at first, vicious associations, and then, possibly, an infectious disease. Shelterless some night, he throws himself on the tender mercies of the police, and forthwith gets himself committed to Blackwell's Island as a vagrant, where we are under obligations to provide for him, since the Commissioners of Emigration will not see that he is a foreign pauper—perhaps of their own making. On the 8th day of December, 1854, there were 400 of such "vagrants" on Blackwell's Island.

Although in any litigation which they may have recourse to hereafter, the Governors of the Almshouse will doubtless be found prepared to make good their claim to the amplest indemnity under the protection of the Revised Laws concerning Immigrants, [App. 3[illegible],] they cannot be insensible to the ungenerous, if not ungrateful animus which has suggested these "offsets." Your Committee do not hesitate to assert that quite one-half of all the out-door paupers of New-York, this day nourished from the resources of the Almshouse Department, are justly chargeable to the Commissioners of Emigration; that their obligations include the care of many thousands who are now apportioned among the public and private charities of the City, and constitute the bulk of our floating pauperism; and when we remember that from a head tax of $2, levied on immigrants, they have derived a fund amounting to $862,000 last year, we can only wonder.

As for the integrity which would compel an unequal settlement by wrongfully putting off a just demand, it were kindest to hope that it never did claim for itself those qualities of genuineness and simplicity which set suspicion at defiance. Therefore be it

Resolved, That we most cheerfully accede to the proposition, made by the Commissioners of Emigration, that the points at issue between the two Boards be settled by an amicable lawsuit.

S. DRAPER,
WM. S. DUKE,
DANIEL F. TIEMANN.

An amount of other business, not of general importance, was transacted. The statistics presented show that the number of inmates remaining in the different institutions for the week ending Saturday, March 3, was 7,000, a decrease of 35 from the previous week.

Fire at Poughkeepsie.—A fire broke out on Sunday morning last in a chair factory, owned by Chas. Linz, Church-street, Poughkeepsie. Mr. Linz's loss is estimated at about $2,000; $600 insurance. Also, two barns belonging to Cyrus Hagadon and Mrs. Bookman. Mr. Hagadon's loss is about $600; Mrs. Bookman the same. The fire was the work of an incendiary.

Horrid Murders in Missouri.

From the St. Louis Democrat, Feb. 2[illegible].

It has been communicated to the Anzeiger office in this city, by a gentleman living in Lexington, Mo., that two Irish peddlers, named John Kanehan and James Carrigan, left that city about two weeks ago, carrying with them two large and valuable packs, containing dry goods and jewelry. They traveled about forty-five miles to the town of Warrensburg, Johnson County, where they concluded to stop for the night. Feeling very much fatigued, one of them, Kanehan, immediately retired to rest. About an hour afterwards, Carrigan went to the bedroom of his companion, and was surprised at not finding him. However, he finally concluded to lie down. As soon as he touched the bed he found it was wet. He lit a candle, and discovered that the bed was covered with blood, and upon looking under it, discovered the body of his companion. While looking at the body he heard footsteps on the stairs. He extinguished the candle, drew his bowie knife, and stationed himself behind the door. In a few moments, three men entered, one having a candle and a bloody axe in his hands, and the others clubs. He sprang upon them suddenly, and before they could recover from their surprise, succeeded in killing all three of them. He then went to a magistrate's office, made his statement, was tried, and acquitted.

ACTS OF THE THIRTY-THIRD CONGRESS.

THE NEW POSTAGE BILL.

We find in the Globe a synopsis of this bill. Everything is to be prepaid after [illegible], and the postage to California to be [illegible] instead of six.

The bill provides that, in lieu of the rates now established by law, there shall, after the commencement of the next fiscal quarter, be charged for every single letter in manuscript or paper of any kind in which information shall be asked for or communicated in writing, or by marks or signs, conveyed in the mail for any distance between places in the United States not exceeding three thousand miles, three cents; and for any distance exceeding three thousand miles, ten cents. For a double letter the charge is to be double, for a treble letter, treble, and for a quadruple letter, quadruple those rates.

Every letter or parcel not exceeding half an ounce in weight is to be deemed a single letter, and every additional weight of half an ounce, or less than half an ounce, is to be charged with an additional single postage. Upon all letters passing through or in the mail of the United States, excepting such as are to or from a foreign country, the postage is to be prepaid, except upon letters and packages addressed to officers of the Government on official business, which shall be so marked on the envelope.

And from and after January 1, 1856, the Postmaster General may require postmasters to place postage stamps upon all prepaid letters upon which such stamps may not have been placed by the writers. All drop-letters, or letters placed in any post-office not for transmission through the mail, but for delivery only, are to be charged with postage at the rate of one cent each, and all letters which are hereafter advertised as remaining over, or uncalled for, in any post-office, are to be charged with one cent each, in addition to the regular postage, both to be accounted for as other postages now are.

No postmaster or other person is to be allowed to sell any postage stamps or stamp envelopes for any larger sum than that indicated upon their face, or for a larger sum than that charged therefor by the Post-Office Department; and any person who violates this provision is to be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and, on conviction, is to be fined in any sum not less than ten, nor more than five hundred dollars.

The following amendments were made to it, and accepted:

Provided, That nothing herein contained shall be so construed as to alter the laws in relation to the franking privilege.

And be it further enacted, That for the greater security of valuable letters posted for transmission in the mails of the United States, the Postmaster General be, and hereby is authorized to establish a uniform plan for the registration of such letters on application of the parties posting the same, to require the prepayment of the postage as well as the registration fee of five cents on every such letter or packet, to be accounted for by the Postmasters receiving the same in such manner as the Postmaster General shall direct: Provided, however, That such registration shall not be compulsory, and it shall not render the Post-Office Department or its revenue, liable for the loss of such letters or packets, or the contents thereof.

EFFICIENCY IN THE NAVY.

An Act to promote the efficiency of the Navy.

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That as soon as practicable after the passage of this Act, the President of the United States shall cause a Board of Naval Officers to be assembled, to consist of five captains, five commanders, and five lieutenants, which Board, under such regulations as the Secretary of the Navy may prescribe, shall make a careful examination into the efficiency of the officers of the grades hereinafter mentioned, and shall report to the Secretary of the Navy the names and rank of all officers of the said grades, who, in the judgment of said Board, shall be incapable of performing promptly and efficiently all their duty both ashore and afloat; and whenever said Board shall believe that said incompetency has arisen from any cause implying sufficient blame on the part of the officer to justify it, they shall recommend that his name be stricken altogether from the rolls. Vacancies occurring in said Board shall be filled by the Secretary of the Navy, who shall preserve the number of grades of its officers, as aforesaid: Provided, That no officers upon said Board shall examine into or report upon the efficiency of officers of a grade above them.

Sec. 2. And be it further enacted, That all officers who shall be found by the said Board incapable of performing the duties of their respective offices, ranks, or grades, shall, if such finding be approved by the President, be dropped from the rolls or placed in the order of their rank and seniority at the time, upon a list in the Navy Register, to be entitled the reserved list; and those so placed on the reserved list shall receive the leave of absence pay, or the furlough pay, to which they may be entitled when so placed, according to the report of the Board and approval of the President, and shall be ineligible to further promotion, but shall be subject to the orders of the Navy Department at all times for duty; and vacancies created in the active service list by placing officers on the reserved list, shall be filled by regular promotion in the order of rank or seniority. And officers who may be promoted to fill the vacancies created by the reserved list, shall, while unemployed, receive only the "leave of absence," or "waiting orders," pay to which they would have been entitled if such promotion had not been made; but when employed at sea or on other duty, they shall receive, in addition to such "leave of absence" or "waiting orders" pay, the difference between the "waiting orders" or "leave of absence" pay and lowest sea-service pay of the grade to which they may be so promoted: Provided, That this scrutiny and examination of officers shall extend only to the grades of Captain, Commander, Lieutenant, Master, and Passed Midshipman: And provided further, That all vacancies occurring in the grade of Masters shall be filled by the promotion of the senior Passed Midshipmen, to be entitled Masters in the line of promotion, who, when promoted, shall receive the pay allowed by law to Masters; that the number of Masters in the line of promotion shall not exceed sixty, and that nothing in this act contained shall be held or construed to authorize any increase of the aggregate pay of the said grades, or of the naval service, as now allowed by law.

Sec. 3. And be it further enacted, That nothing in this act contained shall be construed to restrict, apply to, or impair the regular promotion of officers in the service line of the Navy, who may at any time be entitled to promotion—consequent upon deaths, dismissals, or resignations in the naval service—nor in any manner to abridge or impair the right of the Secretary of the Navy to place any officers upon furlough.

Sec. 4. And be it further enacted, That nothing in this act shall be so construed as to increase the aggregate number of officers, and that all laws, or clauses of laws, so far as they conflict with the provisions of this act, are hereby repealed. Approved Feb. 28, 1855.

THE NEW COURT OF CLAIMS.

An Act to establish a Court for Investigation of Claims against the United States.

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That a Court shall be established, to be called a Court of Claims, to consist of three Judges, to be appointed by the President, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, and to hold their offices during good behavior; and the said Court shall hear and determine all claims founded upon any law of Congress, or upon any regulation of an Executive Department, or upon any contract, express or implied, with the Government of the United States, which may be suggested to it by a petition filed therein, and also all claims which may be referred to said Court by either House of Congress. It shall be the duty of the claimant in all cases to set forth a full statement of the claim, and of the action thereof in Congress, or by any of the Departments, if such action has been had; specifying, also, what person or persons are owners thereof or interested therein, and when and upon what consideration such person or persons became interested. Each of the Judges shall receive a compensation of $4,000 per annum, payable quarterly, from the Treasury of the United States, and shall take an oath to support the Constitution of the United States, and discharge faithfully the duties of his office.

Sec. 2. And be it further enacted, That a Solicitor for the United States, to represent the Government before said Court, shall be appointed by the President, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate. It shall be the duty of said solicitor to prepare all cases on the part of the Government for hearing before said Court, and to argue the same when prepared; to cause testimony to be taken when necessary to secure the interests of the United States; to prepare forms, file interrogatories, and superintend the taking of testimony in the manner prescribed by said Court; and generally to render such services as may be required of him from time to time in the discharge of the duties of his office. Said solicitor shall be sworn to faithfully discharge the duties of his office, in the manner prescribed for the qualification of the Judges in the first section of this act; and he shall receive a compensation of three thousand five hundred dollars per annum for his services, to be paid quarterly from the treasury of the United States.

Sec. 3. And be it further enacted, That the said Court shall have authority to establish rules and regulations for its government; to appoint Commissioners to take testimony to be used in the investigation of claims that may come before it; to prescribe the fees they shall receive for their services; and to issue commissions for the taking of such testimony, whether the same shall be taken at the instance of the claimant or of the United States, and also to issue subpoenas to require the attendance of witnesses, in order to be examined before such Commissioners; which subpoenas shall have the same force as if issued from a District Court of the United States, and compliance therewith shall be compelled under such rules and orders as the Court hereby created shall establish. When testimony is taken for the claimant, the fees of the Commissioner before whom it is taken, and the cost of the commission and notice, shall be paid by such claimant; and when taken at the instance of the Government, such fees, together with all postage incurred by the solicitor aforesaid, in his official capacity, shall be paid out of the contingent fund provided for said Court. In all cases, when it can be conveniently done, the testimony shall be taken in the county where the deponent resides; and the Commissioner taking the same is hereby authorized and required to administer an oath or affirmation to the witnesses brought before him for examination.

Sec. 4. And be it further enacted, That in all cases where it shall appear to the Court that the facts set forth in the petition of the claimant do not furnish any ground for relief, it shall not be the duty of the Court to authorize the taking of any testimony in the case, until the same shall have been reported by them to Congress, as hereinafter provided: Provided, however, That if Congress shall, in such case, fail to confirm the opinion of said Board, they shall proceed to take the testimony in such case.

Sec. 5. And be it further enacted, That in taking testimony to be used in support of any claim before said Court, opportunity shall be given to the United States to file interrogatories, or by attorney to examine witnesses, under such regulations as said Court shall prescribe; and like opportunity shall be afforded the claimant [illegible] in cases where testimony is taken in behalf of the United States, under like regulations.

Sec. 6. And be it further enacted, That if any person shall knowingly and wilfully swear falsely before said Court, or before any person or persons commissioned by them, or authorized by this act to take testimony in a case pending before said Court at the time of taking said oath, or in a case thereafter to be submitted to said Court, such person shall be deemed guilty of perjury, and, on conviction thereof, shall be subjected to the same pains, penalties and disabilities which now are or shall be hereafter by law prescribed for wilful and corrupt perjury.

Sec. 7. And be it further enacted, That said Court shall keep a record of their proceedings, and shall, at the commencement of each session of Congress, and at the commencement of each month during the session of Congress, report to Congress the cases upon which they shall have finally acted, stating in each the material facts which they find established by the evidence, with their opinion in the case, and the reasons upon which such opinion is founded. Any Judge who may dissent from the opinion of the majority, shall append the reason for such dissension to the report; and such report, together with the briefs of the solicitor and of the claimant, which shall accompany the report, upon being made to either House of Congress, shall be printed in the same manner as other public documents. And said Court shall prepare a bill or bills in those cases which shall have received the favorable decision thereof, in such form as, if enacted, will carry the same into effect. And two or more cases may be embraced in the same bill, where the separate amount proposed to be allowed in each case shall be less than $1,000. And the said Court shall transmit, with said reports, the testimony in each case, whether the same shall receive the favorable or adverse action of said Court.

Sec. 8. And be it further enacted, That said reports, and the bills reported as aforesaid, shall, if not finally acted upon during the session of Congress to which the said reports are made, be continued from session to session, and from Congress to Congress, until the same shall be finally acted upon; and the consideration of said reports and bills shall, at the subsequent session of Congress be resumed, and the said reports and bills be proceeded with in the same manner as though finally acted upon at the session when presented.

Sec. 9. And be it further enacted, That the claims reported upon adversely shall be placed upon the calendar when reported, and if the decision of said Court shall be confirmed by Congress, said decision shall be conclusive; and the said Court shall not, at any subsequent period, consider said claims, unless such new matter shall be presented to said Court as by the rules of common law or chancery in suits between individuals would furnish sufficient ground for granting a new action.

Sec. 10. And be it further enacted, That it shall be the duty of the Speaker of the House of Representatives, within a reasonable time after the passage of this Act, to appropriate such rooms in the Capitol at Washington, for the use of said Court, as may be necessary for their accommodation, unless it shall appear to the Speaker that such rooms cannot be appropriated without interfering with the business of Congress; and in that event the said Court shall procure, at the city of Washington, such rooms as may be necessary for the convenient transaction of their business.

Sec. 11. And be it further enacted, That said Court shall have power to call upon any of the Departments for any information or papers it may deem necessary, and have the use of all recorded and printed reports made by the Committees of each House, when deemed to be necessary in the prosecution of the duties assigned by this act. Said Court shall appoint a chief clerk, whose salary shall be two thousand dollars per annum, and an assistant clerk, if necessary, whose salary shall be fifteen hundred dollars per annum, and a messenger, whose salary shall be eight hundred dollars per annum, to be paid quarterly at the Treasury. The said clerks shall be under the direction of said Court, in the performance of their duties, and for misconduct or incapacity may be removed from office by it; but, when so removed, said Board shall make report thereof, with the cause of such removal, to Congress, if in session, or at the next session of Congress. Said clerk and assistant clerk shall take an oath for the faithful discharge of their duties: Provided, That the head of no Department shall answer any call for information or papers, if, in his opinion, it would be injurious to the public interest.

Approved Feb. 24, 1855.

THE NEW BOUNTY LAND BILL.

It is enacted, &c., That each of the surviving commissioned and non-commissioned officers, musicians and privates, whether of regulars, volunteers, rangers or militia, who were regularly mustered into the service of the United States, and every officer, commissioned and non-commissioned, seaman, ordinary seaman, marine, clerk and landsman, in the navy, in any of the wars in which this country has been engaged since 1790, and each of the survivors of the militia, or volunteers, or State troops of any State or territory, called into military service, and regularly mustered therein, and whose services have been paid by the United States, shall be entitled to receive a certificate or warrant from the Department of the Interior, for one hundred and sixty acres of land; and where any of those who have been so mustered into service and paid, shall have received a certificate or warrant, he shall be entitled to a certificate or warrant for such quantity of land as will make, in the whole, with what he has heretofore received, one hundred and sixty acres to each person having served as aforesaid: Provided, the person so having been in service shall not receive said land warrant if it shall appear by the muster-rolls of his regiment or corps that he deserted, or was dishonorably discharged from service.

Sec. 2. And be it further enacted, That in case of the death of any person who, if living, would be entitled to a certificate or warrant as aforesaid, under this act, leaving widow, or, if no widow, a minor child or children, such widow, and if no widow, such minor child or children shall be entitled to receive a certificate or warrant for the same quantity of land that such deceased person would be entitled to receive under the provisions of this act, if now living: Provided that a subsequent marriage shall not impair the right of any such warrant, if she be a widow at the time of making her application; and provided, further, that those shall be considered minors who are so at the time this act shall take effect.

Sec. 3. And be it further enacted, That in no case shall any such certificate, or warrant be issued for any service less than fourteen days, except where the person shall actually have been engaged in battle, and unless the party claiming such certificate or warrant, shall establish his or her right thereto by recorded evidence of said service.

Sec. 4. And be it further enacted, That said certificates or warrants may be assigned, transferred and located by the warrantees, their assignees or their heirs at law, according to the provisions of existing laws regulating the assignment, transfer and location of bounty land warrants.

DESERTERS FROM FOREIGN VESSELS.

An Act concerning the apprehension and delivery of deserters from foreign vessels in the ports of the United States.

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That the Commissioners who now are or hereafter may be appointed by the Circuit Courts to take acknowledgements of bail, and for other purposes, may and shall exercise all the powers conferred on any Court, Judge, or other Magistrate, by the act approved the second day of March, one thousand eight hundred and twenty-nine, entitled "An Act to provide for the apprehension and delivery of deserters from certain foreign vessels in the ports of the United States."

Approved, Feb. 24, 1855.

Great Know-Nothing Defeat—Fifteen Natives Frightened by one German in his Sh—t T—l.—Recently, says the Galveston Gazette, there were Indian alarms about Fredericksburg. One German, in the vicinity, penned his horses at night for safety. He was aroused "in the dark silent hour," by the jingling of bells; bounced up and out, a la sans culotte; discovered Messrs. Red Skin were driving off his cavallado in a hurry. Hans, greatly excited, mounted his fleet bob-tailed pony, without gun, pistol or knife—pantaloonless, coatless, shoeless, and hatless, and with the rear portion of his shirt playing in graceful horizontal position made pursuit, shouting most lustily in his mother tongue, to the Messrs. Red Skin to stop or he'd scalp and roast every mother's son of them. The Indians, who were some ten or fifteen in number, supposing they were pursued by a regiment of Texan Rangers, took to flight, regardless of booty, leaving not only the horses they had taken, but two very fine horses of their own, together with any number of bows and arrows, spears, knives, guns and other Indian "fixens," which were found the next day scattered along for about a mile; and from the tracks seen, their horses must have taken awful strides, and no doubt they thought their end had come.

Swallowing a Bar of Lead—Stomach Opened.—The Wapello, Iowa, Intelligencer says, a Mr. T. W. Bates, while doing the exploit of sticking a bar of lead down his throat, let go his hold, and it descended into his stomach. The physicians of this place, not knowing but Bates was trying to hoax them, made a slight examination at the time, inasmuch as he had made but little ado about it, and at times denied having swallowed it at all. A few days after, the victim having swallowed some acid substance, the lead began to corrode, and he became very sick. The physicians were then called in, and it was soon found that every other attempt to extract the lead would be unavailing, save opening the stomach. This being resolved upon, some five or six physicians were called in, when Dr. Bell, of this place, performed the operation, probably the first on record, of opening the stomach and extracting the lead. The bar was about eleven inches in length, and about one-half the length showed the action of the acid upon it. The patient, at last accounts, was getting along finely, with a prospect of speedy recovery—the inflammation caused from the lead, while in the stomach, being the greatest difficulty to contend with, at present appearance. The Intelligencer of the 8th tells us that Bates was rapidly recovering.

☞ Prof. Mueller, of Basel, Switzerland, has just put forth an octavo volume on the Religion of the Native Tribes of North and South America. He presents a systematic view of all the old Indian traditions and beliefs. He brought to the task a vast amount of learning and research upon a subject of no ordinary interest, especially to America.

NEW-YORK CITY.

THE NEW-YORK PRESS.

Organization of the New-York Journalists' Club.

Representatives from different newspaper offices in this City assembled at the Astor House on the 1st of February to concert measures for the foundation of a permanent organization of the Press. The meeting was large and enthusiastic, comprising Editors, Publishers, Reporters, Correspondents and occasional Contributors. It was agreed that a place of general resort for members of the Newspaper Profession was greatly needed; that Rooms, to be kept open daily for the interchange of friendly courtesies, would produce good results; that in such Rooms a valuable Library of Reference for the use of the Press of the City might be established; and that an organization, based upon right principles, would prove popular and beneficial. The opinions of those present having been found unanimous, an adjourned meeting was held at the same place, at which final measures were taken for the organization of the NEW-YORK JOURNALISTS' CLUB, the objects and regulations of which are set forth in the Plan of Organization which we give below:

NEW-YORK JOURNALISTS' CLUB.

Whereas, Many members of the New-York Press consider it desirable to establish a place of resort where they can at any time assemble for social and business purposes: therefore, the undersigned have resolved to form themselves into an Association, under the name and title of the New-York Journalists' Club, with the following

PLAN OF ORGANIZATION.

ARTICLE I.

Membership.—Any person connected with the Press, as Editor, Proprietor, Regular Correspondent, Reporter, or Publisher, shall be eligible to membership. Application for membership shall be made through a member of the Club at a regular meeting thereof, and the applicant shall be balloted for at the next regular meeting of the Club subsequent to that at which the application was made. If one black ball in ten of the ballots cast be thrown against the candidate, he shall be considered rejected, and so declared.

ARTICLE II.

Fees.—There shall be an initiation fee of five dollars.

ARTICLE III.

Regular Meetings.—There shall be a regular monthly meeting of the Club on the first Saturday evening of each month.

ARTICLE IV.

Officers.—The Officers of this Club shall be a President, Vice President, Secretary, Treasurer, and an Executive Committee consisting of six members, of which Committee the President, Vice President and Treasurer shall be additional members, ex officio. These officers shall be elected semi-annually by ballot, at the regular monthly meetings in April and October.

ARTICLE V.

Duties of Officers.—It shall be the duty of the President to preside at all meetings of the Club, preserve order, and decide all questions of order which may arise during debate.

In the absence of the President, the duties of his office shall be discharged by the Vice President.

It shall be the duty of the Secretary to keep an accurate record of the proceedings of the Club, which shall be open at all times to the inspection of members; and he shall also be required to make a quarterly report of the number of members received, the number expelled, and of such other matters as may fall within his province; also, an annual report at the annual meeting of the Club.

It shall be the duty of the Treasurer to receive the initiation fees and monthly dues of members, and any other moneys donated to or collected for the Club; to disburse the same under the direction of the Executive Committee; and to make quarterly and annual reports of the moneys received and disbursed, and the balance on hand.

It shall be the duty of the Executive Committee to authorize disbursements by the Treasurer, to audit his accounts, to provide for the hire of rooms and the services of a Janitor, and to superintend the general business affairs of the Club. The Committee shall have the control of the rooms, so far as furnishing and keeping them in order is concerned; and shall have the power to call special meetings of the Club whenever, in the opinion of the members of the Committee or of a majority of them, the interests of the Club shall require such special meetings.

ARTICLE VI.

Quorum.—One-third of the members of the Club shall constitute a quorum, and be empowered to transact business at any regular or special meetings.

ARTICLE VII.

Amendments.—This plan can be altered or amended at any regular meeting of the Club by a vote of two-thirds of those present, provided the proposed alteration or amendment shall have been submitted in writing at a previous regular meeting.

The Journalists' Club now numbers 50 members. Of this number 15 are Editors; 5 Publishers and Proprietors of Newspapers and Serials, 17 Reporters in active connection with the Newspapers of the City; 4 Correspondents of journals in England, Ireland and Scotland, &c. &c.

The monthly meeting of the Club for the month of March, was held at its Rooms, Nos. 41 and 42 Moffat Building, corner of Broadway and Anthony-street, on the 3d inst. Upward of a dozen new members were proposed, and the following resolutions were adopted:

Resolved, That a Committee, to consist of the Publishers enrolled among the members of the Club, in company with the President and Vice-President, be appointed to prepare a suitable circular to booksellers, setting forth the objects of the New-York Journalists' Club, and requesting such coöperation as they may feel disposed to furnish, and that said Committee be desired to report the results of such correspondence.

Resolved, That in the opinion of members of this Club it is a duty incumbent upon every member to commend its purposes to others of the same profession, and to seek their active coöperation; to employ all just and honorable means to secure the attainment of the objects of the organization, and to evince, by their use of the facilities already in existence, a fitting sense of the advantages which must accrue from a union of the journalists of the City.

The Officers of the Club (elective semi-annually) are as follows:

President—OLIVER DYER—Editor—Musical Review.
Vice President—E. G. P. WILKINS—Musical Critic—Herald.
Secretary—WM. M. COOKE—Reporter—City Hall.
Treasurer—FLETCHER HARPER, Jr.—Publisher—Daily Times.
Executive Committee—A. Maverick, S. R. Wells, R. Shelton Mackenzie, Thos. W. Strong, D. Russell Lee, J. T. Roberts. (President, Vice President and Treasurer, ex-officio.)

The Rooms of the Journalists' Club, on Broadway, are convenient of access, central to business, comfortably furnished, and open daily (Sundays included) from 9 A. M. to 12 P. M. Strangers from other cities, connected with the Press, will find a cordial welcome there. Complete files of the leading daily and weekly papers have been provided, and, it is hoped, that such assistance will be rendered the Club by the Book Trade as shall enable it soon to announce the completion of a reliable and valuable Library of Reference.

Contributions of Maps, Charts, Books or Papers will be received at the Rooms at any hour, and be gratefully acknowledged.

CITY POLITICS.

The Proposed Democratic Fusion at Tammany.

Messrs. COCHRANE & Co. held another meeting last evening, to complete arrangements for the grand fusion meeting of to-night at Tammany Hall. It is not known how long this fusion Convention will hold out, but it is expected to continue until the one thousand dollars now in the hands of the Softs has been expended.

Senators DOUGLAS, LEWIS CASS and JOHN S. WELLS of New Hampshire, are on hand, and will sport their figures to-night at Tammany. It was agreed by general acclamation last evening, at the meeting of the Central Union Committee, that no resolutions should be prepared for the occasion. Whatever may spring up, will be, as it were, spontaneous effusions. The speakers will have the benefit by this arrangement of not being limited to time.

After [illegible] who should be officers of the first night's meeting, [illegible], it was agreed that the Democrats of each Ward should meet at their headquarters and proceed from thence with drums and flying colors to Tammany Hall. No powder will be expended on this occasion.

Secretary MARCY has been invited to attend this fusion meeting; whether he will attend or not we cannot say.

The Young Men's Democratic Republican General Committee held their first regular meeting last evening, but did little of importance further than organize and elect Committees for the ensuing year. Something interesting and of importance may be expected at the next regular meeting.

ALLEGED SARDINIAN OFFENDERS.

The Sardinian Frigate "Des Geneys" and her Passengers.

The Sardinian frigate Des Geneys, DELLA MANTINICIA, Commander, from Cagliari, Gulf of Genoa, whose ultimate arrival off Sandy Hook on Monday morning, and anchorage at Quarantine, was announced in yesterday's TIMES, still remains anchored opposite Quarantine. At 10 o'clock Monday morning, the Des Geneys was placed in Quarantine under charge of the Pilot who boarded her off the channel, and immediate communication held with the Health Officer. The Pilot acted in conformity with an express statute, which provides that all foreign vessels having passengers on board, whether there be any sick on board or not, shall be examined at Quarantine before permitted to land in port. The Health Officer boarded the frigate, and found three or four cases of sickness among the passengers, and with a view to thorough investigation as to the presence of any pestilential diseases, detained the vessel till yesterday morning. Meantime, orders were given to prohibit communication from the shore to the ship. The United States Revenue Cutter Caleb Cushing was anchored by her, to see to the proper enforcement of the commands of the Health Officer. A subsequent visit by this officer to the frigate, and extended examination, showing the existence of no epidemic or contagious disease, it was ordered to discharge her from Quarantine, which was done. The question as to the character of the crew or passengers, and as to their having been foreign criminals, was not considered, and was not embraced within the province of the inquiry of the Health Officer. This matter then stands at present in statu quo.

By order, however, of the Marquis TALIACARNE, Sardinian Minister to the United States, the frigate will remain where she is, until such examination as may be deemed advisable and just in the premises, shall be made by the Municipal authorities, touching the allegation of the passengers and crew, in whole or in part, being foreign criminals. In the interim, all communication with the frigate is cut off. Our reporter, who by special favor was permitted on board, acknowledges a most cordial reception by the officers. The vessel is an Italian three-decked war frigate, and pierced for fifty-four guns, though only six guns are mounted. As previously announced, there are 166 officers and crew, and 65 passengers. No conversation, however, was allowed with those on board, and in the absence at New-York of the Captain, the utmost taciturnity prevailed to every ventured inquiry. The passengers our reporter represents as mostly comprising young men, respectably clad, and of healthy and intelligent appearance. The Health Officer states, upon information from the Captain, that they are generally mechanics, and have been imprisoned for various periods, from seven days to eight months, in Austria, on account of liberal principles; that escaping from thence into the Sardinian Republic, this province, instead of yielding to the demands of Austria for their return, proposed to send them to the United States. They are without money, and seem at a loss to account for their detention. Be only justice meted to them.

Extension of Albany-street Again.

The Committee on Streets of the Board of Councilmen met yesterday afternoon to hear arguments and facts bearing upon the subject of the extension of Albany-street through Trinity burial ground to Broadway. Messrs. Couenhoven, Gray, Wild, Jenkins and Taylor—all the members of the Committee, were present.

Mr. JAMES BOORMAN was the first speaker. He gave a succinct history of the efforts made in the past to secure the extension of Albany-street, which have been from time to time published in the columns of the DAILY TIMES. He spoke of the instances in which the Episcopalian Societies of this City had, in the past, sold their churches and cemeteries for secular purposes. In regard to the statement made, that if Albany-street was extended it would be of no use, on account of the steep grade, Mr. BOORMAN stated that the grade of Albany-street when extended would be four feet and two inches to one hundred feet, which was but three inches more than the grade of Rector-street, and but five inches greater than the grade of Wall-street between Broadway and Nassau-street. Mr. BOORMAN believed it to be wrong to allow religious views and prejudices to influence the Committee in its decision.

Mr. ANTHONY J. BLEECKER stated that the offer of $10,000, made by Mr. BOORMAN some time since, to remove the bodies interred on the line of the proposed extension, was ridiculously inadequate. A civil engineer had put in an estimate that the cost of the removal, in a proper manner, of the human ashes interred there would be between $49,000 and $50,000, and this made no allowance of the cost for a place for reinterment. Trinity Church had at all times opposed the desecration of the grave, and had never admitted the correctness of the doctrine that one wrong justified another. Other denominations and societies might have sold the ashes of their ancestry, but Trinity Church never had.

The Committee then adjourned.

A Curious Case at the Mayor's Office.

At the Mayor's office yesterday, before Justice OSBORNE, a very curious case of alleged forgery was developed. The Secretary of a down-town Savings Institution appeared before the Justice to make affidavit against a party who had drawn upon the Bank for the sum of $1,245, when the account of the party in the Bank did not exceed $32. When detected, the accused stated that the person to whom he had given the check had defrauded him by selling fraudulent stocks, and that this was the only chance he had of getting ahead of him.

Deponent further says that about 3½ o'clock the accused came to the Bank and stated that he had drawn a draft on the Bank for money which deponent would find he had not there, the draft amounting to $1,250; and stated that it was the first opportunity that he had had to get square with the other party.

Deponent asked if WHIPPLE had the book, and he replied that he had; and deponent requested the accused to remain at the Bank till WHIPPLE came, which, however, he declined to do. About 4 o'clock WM. C. DUSENBURY presented the book and draft at the Bank for payment, and endorsed the draft, and inquired if it was right; to which deponent replied that it was not, and that it was a forgery.

Said DUSENBURY then came behind the counter where deponent was, when deponent again told him that it was a forgery; that accused never had anything like that money in the bank, and that deponent thought it his duty to retain both the book and draft; whereupon said DUSENBURY snatched the book from deponent, but deponent succeeded in getting it again from him; and said DUSENBURY told deponent that a few minutes before 3 o'clock he had cashed the said draft for the aforesaid WHIPPLE, by drawing the amount from bank and paying it over to WHIPPLE.

The case is to be investigated.

Medical Commencement.

The exercises appropriate to the Commencement of the University Medical College were performed last evening at Dr. AYLETT's Medical Institute, in presence of a large number of the class and their friends, including a number of ladies. It was announced that the orator of the evening, (Dr. WINTER,) was not able to attend, through illness, and as some notification had been given in the afternoon to Dr. POST, that gentleman briefly addressed the assembled graduates. He said that they had now passed through the prescribed course of studies, and to-morrow would be invested with the high honors of the medical profession—a profession second only to that which has for its special object the care of man's soul. He spoke of the facilities afforded to the students of the College of studying all manner of diseases in their multifarious forms and phases. He highly advocated the system of examination, and the advantages of the instructions pursued at Dr. AYLETT's Institute. A Roman matron, he said, upon being asked where were her jewels, in the fullness of maternal affection, looking upon her sons, exclaimed—"These are my jewels!" He exhorted his young medical friends to act so that their Alma Mater might in a similar manner look upon them in the same light, and so discharge their duties that her high hopes in their behalf may meet with their fullest consummation. He concluded by wishing them every success in the pursuit of the career and profession which lay before them.

He then proceeded to distribute the testimonials awarded for assiduity and the successful prosecution of studies in the Institute. The graduates were highly complimented, and commended for their zeal and diligence.

The following gentlemen received their diplomas:

G. L. Brooks, N. J.; J. F. Brown, Ga.; Edmund Burr, Jr., Ky.; M. A. Butler, Fla.; Alex. G. Carswell, Ga.; Wm. L. Chaney, Miss.; J. T. Chappell, Ga.; J. B. Cowan, Tenn.; Leonidas Crews, Ga.; Walter H. Drane, Ga.; S. C. Eaton, N. Y.; Andrew Fisher, M.D., C. W.; G. H. Fort, S. C.; Eli Fox, N. Y.; N. L. Galloway, Ga.; L. C. Granger, Vt.; D. M. Hall, Ga.; Wm. G. Ham, Ga.; G. P. Hamilton, Ga.; J. A. Hayes, Ala.; G. B. Heard, Miss.; J. Thomas Holden, N. C.; T. A. Holloway, Ga.; J. Warren Howell, N. J.; L. Henry Keebler, Ga.; H. L. Kelley, N. S.; Wm. W. Lane, N. C.; T. W. Landrum, Ga.; J. J. H. Love, N. J.; Wm. C. McDuffie, N. C.; J. A. Miller, Ga.; J. E. Miller, Va.; Philip O'Rielly, N. Y.; R. B. Patteson, Va.; J. S. Phillips, N. Y.; Samuel C. Pointer, Tenn.; W. Henry Pope, Jr., Ga.; Robert H. Redwood, Ala.; Wm. C. Reese, Ga.; James K. Rushin, Ala.; N. W. Sally, S. C.; J. H. Saunders, N. Y.; D. S. Smith, N. J.; G. Steinert, Germany; Milton O. Stribling, Ga.; M. Strong, Ohio; D. Terry, N. Y.; James H. Weaver, Ga.; Isaiah White, M.D., C. W.; S. N. Winkler, Ga.; W. D. Witherspoon, Miss.

At the close of the distribution Professor AYLETT was presented with a splendid silver pitcher and goblet, by Dr. W. C. MCDUFFY, of N. C., on behalf of the class, in an appropriate manner. Dr. AYLETT returned suitable acknowledgements.

Mr. John B. Holmes in the Court of Sessions.

To the Editor of the New-York Daily Times:

On yesterday my attention was directed to a report published in your paper of the 22d ult., of which the following is a copy:

THE CASE OF JOHN B. HOLMES AGAIN POSTPONED.

"The case of JOHN B. HOLMES, indicted for the manslaughter of the Policeman GOURLAY, which was set down "positively" for trial in this Court yesterday, was again postponed, making the third or fourth time, on the same alleged ground as on the latest occasion, viz.: the defendant's sickness and general indisposition to appear, owing to a beating which he had received from some unknown person. The intention now is to try him next term."

Now, Sir, a more mistaken report than the above you never inserted in your paper. You state that this postponement was the third or fourth, each obtained by me. On the contrary, Sir, I had my trial postponed but once, and that was on Monday, the 12th ult., in consequence of being very ill. I was confined to my bed for twelve days. I wrote to my counsel to have it postponed to Wednesday, the 21st, at which time my physician said I would be able to attend. On Wednesday, the 21st, I attended with all my witnesses and counsel and was informed by the Assistant District Attorney that the prosecution was not ready. My counsel, Messrs. WHITING, TALLMADGE and PHILLIPS, were there, and urged the case should be tried on that day, but to no purpose. I request that you publish this letter so that the public may know the truth. Your obedient servant,

JOHN B. HOLMES.

Rock Blasting in the City.

MAYOR'S OFFICE,
NEW-YORK, Tuesday, March 6, 1855.

The attention of contractors and others is called to the following ordinance, passed by the Common Council Nov. 19, 1851, in relation to the blasting of rocks within the City of New-York.

Notice is hereby given that hereafter the ordinance will be strictly enforced.

An Ordinance for the covering up of the blasts in the blasting of rocks within the City of New-York.

Be it ordained by the Mayor, Aldermen and Commonalty of the City of New-York in Common Council convened:

SEC. 1. In all cases of blasting rocks or stones within the City of New-York, south of a line drawn across the island one hundred feet northerly of Eighty-sixth-street, each blast, before firing it, shall be securely covered with six timbers of not less than four inches thick, ten inches wide, and ten feet long each, to be placed over and around each charge, and to be held in place by at least three hundred pounds of large stones piled on top of them.

SEC. 2. Three minutes notice before firing the blasts shall be given by displaying a red flag on a staff, not less than ten feet high, set in a conspicuous place within twenty-five feet of the point where the charge is placed, and, also, by calling out the words, "A blast," several times repeated, and loud enough to be distinctly heard at a distance of two hundred feet from the point of discharge.

SEC. 3. For every violation of either of the provisions of this ordinance, the offending party, or if the work be done under a contract, the contractor upon complaint and conviction thereof before a Police Justice, shall be liable to a fine of twenty-five dollars, and stand committed until the same is paid.

SEC. 4. This ordinance shall take effect immediately.

Adopted by the Board of Aldermen, Oct. 14, 1851.
Adopted by the Board of Assistants, Nov. 17, 1851.
Approved by the Mayor, Nov. 19, 1851.

☞ The Police Commissioners were in secret session yesterday, and made several appointments. The names of the appointees were however, not made known.

From the Rio Grande.

The Brownsville Flag of the 21st inst., says: A grand ball came off in Brownsville on the evening of the 10th, in honor of Mr. CASTILLO, late Mexican Consul at that place. The Flag describes it as a brilliant affair.

The Flag has the following:

FILLIBUSTERS ON THE RIO GRANDE.—It is stated that $60,000 have been subscribed by the merchants at Brownsville, Texas, and the Mexicans residing there, to fit out a fillibustering expedition against Mexico, to be commanded by Gen. CARVAJAL, and that the citizens of Monterey have pledged themselves to raise $100,000 for the same purpose. Gen. WOLL, the Mexican commander, had stopped all communication with the American side of the Rio Grande. He has 1,000 men at Matamoras, 100 at Reynosa, 400 at Camargo, 400 at Mier, and 100 at Guerro.

We find the above paragraph in several of our exchanges, without credit. Like other counterfeits, its fabricator is ashamed of the production. Instead of $60,000, the merchants of Brownsville have not subscribed 60 cents to aid any fillibuster organization, nor do we believe that the Mexicans residing here have. Our towns on the Rio Grande, as yet, are chiefly commercial, and for this commerce we are dependent, almost wholly, upon our neighbors of Mexico. To secure this trade, quiet on the frontier is absolutely necessary, and our merchants have had time to be taught by experience the futility of border revolutions—revolutions instigated, in most instances, by visionary aspirants for fame and place, rather than from motives of patriotism and the welfare of their countrymen. The citizens of Brownsville have hospitably received political exiles from Mexico—those who have fled from persecution under the present rulers of that country—and would be as ready to extend the same hospitality and afford the same refuge to the persecutors, should, as it is by no means improbable, the continual changes of fortune render such a refuge necessary. The spirit and genius of our institutions guarantee this to all alike, without partiality.

The above paragraph is wholly untrue. There is no organization forming here. Aside from a harmless paper warfare occasionally waged, the whole of the northern frontier of Mexico is quiet. The new commandant, Gen. VEGA, seems to give general satisfaction. Many of those engaged in the late revolution have been pardoned and returned to their homes, where their [illegible] swords and stout lance poles have been exchanged for pruning knives and plowshares, for the peaceful cultivation of the soil. CARVAJAL is still on this side; but, in the retirement of the shades of private life, is, so far as we know, complying with the laws of the country whose protection he has sought.

MARKET REPORTS.

Markets....Carefully reported for the N. Y. Daily Times.

TUESDAY, March 6—6 P. M.

ASHES—Are in limited supply and demand, at $6 25 @$6 31¼ for Pots; and $6 37½ for Pearls, ℔ 100 lbs.

CANDLES—The inquiry is improving, but is freely met, and prices are unaffected by it.

COFFEE—Is quiet but steady, owing to the scarcity of most kinds. Sales were made of 40 bags Java, at 13½c.; 450 Rio, at 10½c.@11c.; and 150 St. Domingo, at 9c. ℔ lb.

COTTON—Is in rather better request, at full rates:

NEW-YORK CLASSIFICATION.

	Upland.	Florida.	Mobile	New-Orleans and Texas.
Ordinary	7¼	7¼	7¼	7¼
Middling	8¾	8¾	8¾	9¼
Middling Fair	9¾	10	10¼	10½
Fair	10	10¼	11	11¼

FLOUR AND MEAL—State and Western brands are actively sought after, and as there is even less offering, prices still tend upward. The sales of the day comprise 7,000 bbls. We quote:

Ordinary State	8 50 @ 8 62½
Straight State	8 62½@ 8 75
Favorite State	8 75 @ 8 87½
Mixed Western	9 25 @ 9 37½
Common to Good Indiana and Michigan	9 37½@ 9 50
Fancy Michigan	9 50 @ 9 62½
Common to Good Ohio	9 25 @ 9 50
Fancy Ohio	9 50 @ 9 62½
Extra Ohio	9 62½@11 00
Extra Indiana and Michigan	9 62½@10 25
Fancy Genesee	9 75 @10 50
Extra Genesee	11 00 @12 00

Canadian is also brisk and rising, sales having been made of 2,100 bbls. at $9 37½@$10 50 for common to extra, free, ℔ bbl. Southern is in good request, and is increasing in value. There were 2,200 bbls. sold to-day $8 87½@$9 50 for mixed to good straight and favorite; and $9 50@$10 62½ fancy and extra, ℔ bbl. Buckwheat Flour is sparingly dealt in at $3 25@$3 87½ ℔ 100 lbs. Rye Flour is rather more in request at $6@$7 ℔ bbl. Corn Meal is quiet and languid at $4 25@$4 31¼ for Jersey, and $4 62½ for Brandywine, ℔ bbl.

GRAIN—Wheat has not varied. There is very little offering, while millers are in need of a supply. Prices are firm and advancing. The day's sales have been confined to small lots of Southern White at $2 35 ℔ bushel. Rye is quiet but steady, in the absence of stock. Oats are in moderate supply and good demand, at 63c.@69c. for State and Western; 56c.@59c. for Southern, and 55c.@58c. for Jersey ℔ bushel. Corn is in pretty active request, and as owners are not so anxious to realize, prices are tolerably well sustained. The day's operations embrace 65,000 bushels at 94c.@95c. for mixed Southern; 95c.@96c. for white do.; 97c. for Jersey yellow, and 97c. @98c. for Southern yellow, ℔ bushel.

HAY—River is in better supply and limited demand, at 90c.@95c. for shipment, and $1 06¼ for local use, ℔ 100 lbs.

HOPS—The market is fairly stocked, but the demand is limited, and small lots only are being taken at 18c.@ 23c. for last year's crop, ℔ lb.

IRON—Scotch Pig is in slack request at $30@$31, usual terms, ℔ ton. We have heard of nothing new in other kinds.

LATHS—Eastern are scarce and wanted at $3 ℔ thousand.

LEAD—Is quiet. Parties disagree about prices. No sales have been effected worthy of notice.

LIME—Rockland is less active, but is without any further change in value.

MOLASSES—There is nothing really new to notice in the market. The day's sales include 250 bbls. New-Orleans at 26c.@27c., and 100 hhds. Nuevitas Syrup on private terms.

NAVAL STORES—Crude Turpentine is not so freely offered, but is without any decided improvement in price. Small sales of Spirits do. have been made at yesterday's rates. The stock of both is rather heavier. Tar has not varied. Resin is less abundant, but is quiet and firm.

OILS—Whale and Sperm are very quiet, but stiffly held, in this market. Red oil is selling slowly at old quotations. 100 baskets Olive brought $3 50 each. Linseed is salable and firm, in small quantities, at 78c.@ 79c. ℔ gallon. There is a little more doing in Lard Oil at old prices.

PROVISIONS—Pork is still active and buoyant, sales having been made of 1,500 barrels, at $13 75@ $13 87½ for old Mess; $14@$14 06¼ for new Prime; and $15@$15 25 for new Mess, ℔ barrel, with other kinds at proportionate rates. Dressed Hogs remain as last noticed. Cut Meats are active and firm, with sales of 320 packages, at 8½c.@9½c. for Hams; and 6½c.@6¾c. for Shoulders, ℔ lb. Bacon is in moderate request at, according to quality, from 8c.@9c. ℔ lb. Lard is without any further change, sales having been made of 350 barrels at 9½c.@9¾c. ℔ lb. Beef is in fair request at steady rates, the day's sales amounting to 275 barrels, at $6 50@$7 25 for Country Prime, $9@$11 50 for Country Mess, $12 50 for Vermont do., $14 25@$15 for repacked do., and $15 for Extra Mess ℔ bbl. Prime Mess Beef is in limited demand at $21@$25 ℔ tre. Beef Hams are sought after at $16@$18 50 ℔ bbl. Butter is freely taken at 16c.@21c. for Ohio, 20c.@ 29c. for State Dairy, and 30c.@32c. for Orange County ℔ lb. Cheese is in demand at 11c.@12½c. ℔ lb.

RICE—There were 250 tcs. disposed of at $4 50@ $5 12½, ℔ 100 lbs.

SPELTER—Is rather scarce and is generally held at 6c. for Plate, ℔ lb.

SUGARS—The demand is moderate at old prices, with sales of 600 hhds., mostly New-Orleans, at 4½c.@ 5¼c., but including some Cuba at at 4½c.@4¾c. ℔ lb.

TALLOW—Sales were made of 15,000 lbs. Prime at 12c., cash, ℔ lb.

TOBACCO—Is in moderate demand and is advancing in price, the sales since our last including 70 hhds. Kentucky at 8c.@10c.; 72 cases Seed Leaf at 6½c.@11c.; 43 Florida at 13½c.@30c.; 50 bales Havana at 22½c.@33c., and 79 Cuba on private terms.

WHISKY—Is plentier and lower, with sales of 800 bbls. Jersey, Ohio and Prison at 30½c.@32c., cash, ℔ gallon.

FREIGHTS—The business of this day has been rather limited, and an easier feeling has been discernible in quotations. For Liverpool, the engagements included some lots of Cotton, at 3-16d.@7-32d. ℔ lb.; 25,000 bushels Corn at 4½d.@5d., and some Provisions at old rates. For London, the shipments were light, at yesterday's figures. For other ports, we heard of no important engagements or change in rates.

Retail Market Prices.

The present fine opening weather has caused the supply of farm produce in our retail markets to be largely increased, rendering prices somewhat lower. BEEF and other fresh meats are quite plenty, but prices therefor remain unchanged. BEEF 9c.@18c., MUTTON 9c.@ 12c., and VEAL 12c.@14c. ℔ lb.

SALT MEATS—Are unchanged in price or supply. Hams 12½c. ℔ lb.; Beef Tongues 75c. a piece; Sausages 12½c. ℔ lb.

City made LARD retails at 12½c. ℔ lb.

BUTTER—Is yet very scarce, and remarkably dear—18c.@34c. ℔ lb.

CHEESE—10c.@12½c. ℔ lb.

POULTRY—Is diminished, being somewhat out of season, but prices exhibit no material alteration. Chickens 15c.@16c.; Turkeys 17c.@18c.; Ducks 18c.@ 25c., and Geese 12½c. ℔ lb.

GAME—Is yet in fair supply, with medium demand. Quails $1 50@$1 75; Robins 87½c.@$1, and Yellow Legs 50c. ℔ dozen; Hares 62½c.@75c., and Rabbits 50c. ℔ dozen.

EGGS—Are a little plentier at unchanged rates—five for 12½c.

VEGETABLES—Of almost every kind are becoming more abundant at reduced rates. Cabbage, 8c.@10c. per head; Turnips, 25c. ℔ half peck; Leeks, 8c.@10c. ℔ dozen; Beets, 62½c.@68c. ℔ half peck; Pumpkins, 37½c.@50c. each; White Onions, 37½c.; Yellow Onions, 31c.; Red Onions, 31c. ℔ half peck; Carrots, 50c. ℔ basket; Spinnach, 25c. ℔ half peck; Celery, 10c.@18c. ℔ bunch; Potatoes average $3 50 ℔ bbl., 25c. ℔ half peck. A considerable portion of the stock now in market is more or less tainted with frost.

APPLES—$3 50@$5 ℔ bbl.

Fresh Fish is in better supply and demand. Codfish 6c.; Salmon, Bass, Eels, and Smelts, 12c. ℔ lb.; Lobsters, 6c. ℔ lb.; Shad, 50c.@75c. each. Salt Fish is in good demand; no change in rates, prices varying from 4c. to 12c. ℔ lb.

OYSTERS AND CLAMS—In fair supply; no change in demand or rates—the former selling at from 62½c.@$1 50, and Clams at 80c. ℔ hundred.

☞ The Ten Governors had "Sam" before them last night, and the young man heard some things of himself, especially from Governor Draper, that were not so flattering.

We give under the telegraphic head this morning a full copy of the important Treaty with the Argentine Confederation, negotiated some time since by our Ministers Schenck and Pendleton. This Convention, it will be remembered, was participated in by the Governments of England and France, and opens the navigation of the rivers Paraguay and Uruguay to the merchant flags of all nations.

The Soule Correspondence.

Our special correspondent at Washington gives us, this morning, some additional interesting extracts from the Soule correspondence, which we commend to our readers' attention. It will be seen from these letters, and those we published yesterday, that our cotemporaries, who pretended, some time since, to give a statement of the result and recommendations of the Ostend Convention, were entirely mistaken on that point.

The Bounty-Land Act.

Congress, at the recent Session, made provision, in the acceptable shape of land bounties, for the Soldiers of the War of 1812, and for all other Soldiers not heretofore provided for, and their widows and minor children, who were engaged in the war service of the country after our first revolutionary struggle. The measure is one which was respectfully urged upon the Representatives of the people by the late Convention, on the 8th January, at Washington, of the Veterans of 1812–15. It is one of proper justice and liberality, but not one of munificence or extravagance. We cannot possibly see it in the light of a great land job, nor attribute its passage, as some of our neighbors have done, to corruption or malign influences in high quarters. It is the first time, we believe, in the history of Federal legislation, that the voting of military bounties, for actual service in time of war, has been charged to such influences, or ascribed to profligacy in the members of the National Legislature, who felt called upon to reward with that of which the Government has a superabundance, the defenders of the country against foreign invasion or Indian hostilities. The uncalled-for impeachment of motives in this case, is only equaled by the gross inconsistency of argument with which the objections to the policy of the Act are attempted to be supported. One of these is, that Congress should have voted free homes to the homeless—should have provided for emigrants from Foreign shores by a gratuity of quarter sections—instead of donating to the Soldiers of the late War warrants to enter the Public Lands, by way of reward for Public services. The Homestead principle, in other words, should not have been applied to our own citizens, who devoted their time and blood, and risked their lives in the defence of the country. The Homestead hobby, we doubt not, was originally designed for party capital or selfish influence in a very different direction, but it certainly does not follow either that Congress is corrupt, or the American Soldier unworthy, because these Lands have been, in part, appropriated after the manner of the bill under notice. On the contrary, there is every motive of reason and patriotism and native gratitude, why the Soldier, equally, at least, with the Emigrant, should be cared for. And there are superior reasons why the citizens of the Old Thirteen, tens of thousands of whom were among the first to volunteer in the Indian Wars and the War with Great Britain, should not be debarred participation in the distribution of the Public Lands in the West. These States, in their sovereign capacity, have struggled for these twenty years, through their Representatives at Washington, for an equal and just share of the proceeds of these Lands, but with the exception of the indirect distribution of the Surplus Revenue in 1836, which was most grudgingly voted, they have not been able to reach this object. Every other honest Land measure, looking to a common equality among the States, has either been discouraged by Executive influence, or voted down by a combination between the new States, in which the unappropriated Public Domain is situated, and the demagogues from the Old Thirteen anxious to court their favor.

The present Act but partially rights this acknowledged injustice to the people of the old States. It was not intended, probably, to have this bearing, but we know that it was supported in part by the Whig Representatives from the State of New-York, because such is the practical effect of the measure; because it was the only Land Distribution bill they have had the opportunity of voting for with a reasonable chance of its final success. That the pleasure of giving it their support was doubled by the consideration of the immediate and worthy object of the bounty, should neither detract from their wisdom nor impeach their honesty.

Journalists' Club.

We publish, under our City head, an account of the organization of the New-York Journalists' Club—an Association of members of the City Press, which already numbers some fifty members, and has opened rooms on Broadway for purposes of social intercourse. The general objects of this organization are set forth in the plan of its operations. The want of a central place of resort for the use of persons attached to the Newspaper and Periodical Press, and the need of a Library of Reference to which free access may be had at any hour, were leading incentives to the formation of this body. The Club has been established under favorable auspices, and upon a basis which appears to be sound and practical. The nucleus of a Library is forming. Nearly every newspaper office in the City is represented, in the persons of editors, reporters or publishers; and correspondents of foreign journals are also among the number. It is proposed to unite in this Association all members of the Press who may be disposed to assist in the attainment of the ends aimed at. Such a system of operations as that which the body has adopted, if properly pursued, may render useful assistance to the Press. The effort to establish a permanent institution of this nature is worth notice—if for no other reason than that the general idea has not heretofore been developed in a manner so practical and promising. The Press will do wisely by lending it a helping hand.

The Chinese in California.

There is a paper called the Oriental; or, Tung-Ngai San-Luk, published weekly in San Francisco, of which part is in English and a part in the Chinese character. From several copies of it that lie before us we gather some facts of interest, and which conflict with the usually-reported statements in regard to the Chinese in California. The Tung-Ngai, &c., corrects the sentiments we had entertained as to the number of the children of the Flowery Land that have immigrated to California. Instead of the large numbers set down by the State Senate Committee and by Governor Bigler, it does not allow that the present Chinese population exceeds 40,000.

Almost all that have come—all, except a few from Shanghai—were from the province of Canton—hence they speak the same dialect, nurse old family quarrels, and maintain much closer intimacy with each other than might be expected. It is one of the original customs of the Chinese, when visiting a strange province, to establish for common quarters a sort of club-house, supported by voluntary contribution where they lodge and eat. This club, or ui-kun, is an institution that they have brought with them to America. There are five such flourishing in San Francisco. Take a description of one of them, which will answer for all. It was furnished by one of their officers:

> Their object is to improve the practices of their members, and to instruct them in principles of benevolence. They are somewhat like American churches! The buildings furnish beds, fuel, and water to guests who remain for but a short period; also a lodging place and medicines for the infirm, aged or sick. Means are bestowed upon such to enable them to return to China.
>
> There are three agents employed by the Company; also a servant who sweeps the house.
>
> The agents of the company are elected. At the election all the districts must have a voice. If no members from any one are present, they must be heard from. The agents must be men of tried honesty; and are required to furnish security before they enter upon their office. Their election is for the term of six months; of the expiration of which they must give notice, and call a new election. But if they be found faithful to their duties they are eligible to reelection.
>
> Our company has never employed men to work in the mines for their own profit; nor have they ever purchased any slaves or used them here.
>
> Except the buildings used by the Company, we have no other property. This has been purchased by the members; who have subscribed of their free will, some twenty, some fifteen, some ten dollars. A portion has been paid in; some will be paid when they are ready to return home. This is a perfectly voluntary matter; there has been no coercion used. Nor is any money required from the disabled, the sick, the aged, or from those making a second voyage to this country.
>
> The objects to which the subscriptions to the Company have been devoted are as follows: 1. The purchase of ground and erection of the buildings used by us; 2. The salaries of agents and servants; 3. For fuel, water, candles, and oil; 4. To assist the sick to return; 5. For the bestowment of medicines; 6. For coffins and funeral expenses for the poor; 7. For the repairs of tombs; 8. Expenses of lawsuits; 9. Taxes upon our frame house at Sacramento; 10. Drayage, and other outlay, for passengers landing or departing by ships. The unpaid subscriptions amount to $35,000; the names of others who have not yet stated the amount they intend giving will be good for perhaps $6,700 more.

It has often been said that the members of these companies are slaves; but this they positively deny. Allowing, in addition, 2,000 for the number of Chinese women—who are never registered—and 1,000 for the number that have avoided these clubs, and the annexed table will show the immigration and present amount of the Chinese population of California:

Gov. Bigler has always been very hard in his messages upon the Celestials. They are not disposed to take it all without rejoinder. Before us lies a reply to His Excellency, prepared by the Chinese merchants, and hailing from the "Exchange." To the Governor's remark that they do not bring their families, they reply thus naively:

> It is stated that "too large a number of the men of the Flowery Kingdom have emigrated to this country, and that they have come alone, without their families. We may state among the reasons for this that the wives and families of the better families of China have generally compressed feet; they live in the utmost privacy; they are unused to winds and waves; and it is exceedingly difficult to bring families upon distant journeys over great oceans. Yet a few have come—nor are they all. And further, there have been several injunctions warning the people of the Flowery Land not to come here; which have fostered doubts; nor have our hearts found peace in regard to bringing families. Suppose you say, "We will restrain only those who work in the mines. We would not forbid merchants," it is replied, that the merchandise imported by Chinese merchants chiefly depends upon Chinese consumption. If there be no Chinese miners allowed, what business can we have to do? The occupations are mutually dependent, like tooth and lip; neither can spare the other.

They hope they are not all bad men:

> "Confucius" says: "Though a city had but ten houses, there must be some in it honest and true." Suppose then we see it declared that "the people of the Flowery land are altogether without good," we cannot but fear that the rulers do not exercise a liberal public spirit, and that they defer their own knowledge of right to an undue desire to please men.

To the charge that they do not understand our language, they reply:

> But suppose villagers, from everywhere emigrate, most of whom do not know their speech; and that pleasant intercourse should then be as it were interrupted; that though the heart desires the expression will not flow; that though the teeth be unclosed, still the proper words are not released; [illegible] ought either the one or the other nation to take offence?

Californians have been in the habit of charging most of their petty rows to the Coolies, as here, the poor Sons of Erin must take the blame of every "shindy." But the merchants say:

> We hope and pray that your honorable country would enact vigorous laws, by which these brothels and gambling places may be broken up; and thus worthless fellows will be compelled to follow some honorable employment; gamblers to change their calling; and your policemen and petty officials also be deprived of opportunities of trickery and extortion.

To the charge that they gather up of the wealth of the State, carry it away and leave nothing in its place, they respond indignantly.

> It is said "that the Chinese go at once to the mines; that they have no other employment; that they come to this State only with the desire of obtaining wealth; and that having attained this object, they return home." * * * But from the commencement to the present time, the profits upon the imports to this State have not paid the shipping and other expenses; and many of us have brought various commodities, the whole sum of which we have lost. Must there be added to this the insults and ridicule of the little and the mean? Look at the mines. There openly they have planned, and in secret they have wrought us injury. They have destroyed life, and plundered property. Wagoners have extorted from us; boatmen vexed and done us violence. To these barbarities we dared not reply; we must submit to the degradation.

They plead that the Emperors have always treated foreigners equally as well as citizens. They thought they were promised a reciprocity of politeness.

> But of late days your honorable people have established a new practice. They have come to the conclusion that we Chinese are the same as Indians and Negroes, and your courts will not allow us to bear witness. And yet these Indians know nothing about the relations of society—they know no mutual respect—they wear neither clothes nor shoes—they live in wild places and in caves. When we reflect upon the honorable position that China has maintained for many thousands of years—upon the wisdom transmitted by her philosophers—upon her array of civil and of military powers—upon the fame of her civilization—upon the wealth and the populousness of her possessions—upon the cordial tenderness with which successive dynasties of Emperors have treated strangers, deeming native or foreigner all as one; and then behold the people of other nations heap ridicule upon us as if we were the same as Indians—we ask, is it possible that this is in accordance with the will of Heaven?

This may make some smile, but it is modest, after all, and well said. They conclude with a reasonable request for a definite enactment as to their rights and privileges. They ask, that if they must be compelled to return, a definite date and regular method be appointed for it. They could not ask less, certainly.

The Academy Affairs.

In our remarks on the Opera emeute yesterday the following supplemental notice was accidentally omitted. It was pasted on the doors of the Academy, but escaped our observation:

> "Notice.—All just claims of persons who have been employed at the Academy of Music, will be duly recognized. A written notice will be sent to each person at his residence, stating where he will be paid, as soon as possible, to adjust the matter. By order of the Management. March 5, 1855."

The artistes of the establishment are greatly dissatisfied with this notice—firstly, because it bears no signature; secondly, because it communicates no address; thirdly, because the promise to pay "as soon as possible" is vague, indefinite, and unsatisfactory.

An informal meeting was held yesterday morning at the Academy. Signor Allegri informed the Company that he had received a communication from James Phalen, Esq., the President of the Stockholders. It was as follows:

> New-York, March 6, 1855.
>
> Mr. Allegri: Sir—I have read in this morning's papers, with no small chagrin, the painful statement contained in the resolutions passed yesterday, at a meeting of the artistes and employés at the Academy of Music, under the late management of Mr. Ole Bull.
>
> I see that a new meeting has been called for this morning at 11 o'clock, to take into consideration the unfortunate situation of the poorer portion, whose loss of salary is a loss of daily bread. Should you deem it—among yourselves—a judicious mode of relief, I would suggest your uniting together, and giving a performance for the benefit of all concerned.
>
> I would further suggest, that the salaries of the lowest class should be paid in full, while the balance should be divided equally among the higher artists.
>
> If this should be the decision of the meeting this morning, it would give me great pleasure to put the Academy of Music, free of rent, at their disposal; and I will cheerfully take upon myself the usual additional expenses of the house.
>
> JAMES PHALEN.

The entertainment so kindly suggested will take place, we understand, on Monday next.

From the Academy to the Superior Court is, under the present circumstances, a natural and easy transition.

An application was made yesterday to his Honor Judge Slosson for a warrant of attachment against Mr. Ole Bull. The applicants were Bertucca Maretzek and Francis Petrachis. They claimed the sum of three hundred dollars for singing and performing at the Academy of Music. The complainants stated that an attempt had been made by the Sheriff to serve Mr. Ole Bull with a summons to appear, but without success, as that gentleman had departed for parts unknown.

His Honor, after hearing the affidavit, which was of great length, granted the warrant of attachment as requested.

Here the matter rests at present, morally and legally. The public will, undoubtedly, look for an explanation from Mr. Ole Bull—the onus certainly rests with that gentleman, and we certainly think he should, as a public character, rid himself of it. We were promised a statement for to-day's paper from Mr. Ole Bull, but it has not yet come to hand. Mr. Maretzek, who is not only the Apollo, but pro tem. the Demosthenes of the Academy, is bursting with impatience to have some one "pitch into him"—rhetorically, of course. He is provided with an avalanche of (facts—being, indeed, a perfect Gradgrind in the article) which like another Polyphemus, he will let slide on any one who has the kindness to traduce him.

Dramatic and Musical.

Broadway Theatre.—Miss Makeah commenced a limited engagement here on Monday evening; appearing in the character of Parthenia. We have, on a previous occasion, referred to Miss Makeah's interpretation of this, and need only add that time and study have improved the gracefulness and vigor of the performance.

Last evening, Miss Makeah appeared as Julia, in the "Hunchback." It was, as a whole, a successful and elevating performance. We were, however, disappointed with the earlier scenes of the play; the light melodious mezzo voce of comedy is deficient in Miss Makeah. An occasional provincial accent also marred some otherwise excellently expressed bursts of passion. Roundness of tone in the middle and highest register should be cultivated, and, of all things, the twang of provincialism avoided, by every artist, male or female. These defects were barely visible in the fourth and fifth acts, where the sentiment of the play approaches the tragic. By the judicious exercise of the lower tones of her voice, Miss Makeah succeeded in impressing the audience with the painful earnestness of the unhappy Julia. Throughout, her reading was excellent; and, as on Monday evening, we had repeated occasions for noticing decided and most satisfactory advances in the purely artificial business of the stage.

We have seldom seen a piece better acted by a stock company. Mr. Conway's Master Walter was a little too heavy for our liking, but effective enough. Mr. Grosvenor's Modus was admirable. There are some characters this gentleman sustains with marked ability, and this is one of the number. Davidge made the most of the impossible fun with which the character of Fathom is afflicted; and last, but not least, Mrs. Abbott was a charming and excellent Helen. In every respect the play was thoroughly enjoyable.

Burton's Theatre.—A London piece called "Aggravating Sam" was produced here on Monday night, and met with partial success. There is scarcely any plot in this trifle, and the trait of character which it illustrates is too slight and unimportant for the attenuation of two acts. Aggravating Sam, (Mr. Jordan,) the hero, is a Cockney, with a strong predilection for setting people by the ears; he delights in aggravating every one. The particular object of this amiable passion is a Mr. Popplewig, (Burton,) a gentleman newly arrived from New-York. In the indiscretion of a long sea voyage, Popplewig makes love to a solitary spinster. He repents of his act the moment he lands. But the lady, who has not been unusually coy, respects the flirtation and claims Popplewig as her own. The latter runs away; the lady follows in pursuit. Aggravating Sam crosses their paths, and succeeds in making them both amusingly angry. Sam, as a reward for his efforts, aggravates a pretty young lady into matrimony—and so on.

There is very little in the piece, but the acting of Mr. Burton's Company makes it amusing. The manager himself as Popplewig was inimitable—particularly in that part where he describes the manifold beauties that invest a plain spinster during the monotonous progress of a long voyage.

There was some applause, and some disapprobation expressed at the close of the performance.

Concert.—A Grand Complimentary Testimonial Concert will be given to James Neill, Esq., at Bleecker Buildings, to-night. The arrangements are under the direction of G. I. Mullen, and the programme is social and pleasant.

Niblo's Garden.—A Concert of Sacred Music will be given here to-morrow evening.

STATE AFFAIRS.

LEGISLATIVE PROCEEDINGS.

Special Correspondence of New-York Daily Times.

Albany, Tuesday, March 6, 1855.

It was General Order day in the House, and the regular business proceeded with the accustomed regularity, save and accept one small—very small—interruption.

It is becoming almost impossible to do a correspondent's labor without reaping more than the usual and legitimate fruits thereof, viz., many anathemas and few commendations. It used to be that when a correspondent was correct in his statements he was permitted to draw his own conclusions without invoking an outburst from every thin-skinned, sensitive, impregnable individual that might happen to be intrusted by a credulous constituency with a seat on the floor of the Assembly. But they take things differently under the latest rulings.

I had occasion yesterday to characterize in fitting terms the course which one of the representatives had pursued upon the reference of a bill relating to the Police Department. Of course there was immediately "a question of privilege," and the usual abuse of that question. The individual read from the Times a paragraph from my letter, and proceeded thereon, not to deny the assertions therein made, not to question the facts therein contained, but to justify his opposition to the bill, and to read from Mayor Wood's letter certain paragraphs which confirmed his opposition. He carefully avoided any denial of the statements made. I do not think it fitting I should cumber the columns of the Times with any more direct allusion to the remarks of the individual, especially as he embraced an opportunity when I was out of the Assembly to commence his display, and so far abused himself as to retail in his place a garbled and perverted account of a private conversation. Were I disposed to follow his example, I might probably show that the individual had admitted himself guilty of what I had charged him with—had boasted that in what he had done he had "tricked a trickster," and justified his trickery by a rehearsal of a precedent, and then made boast that he was actuated solely by a desire to defeat the measure, and "had got the bill where he'd kill it."

THE APPRAISAL AND PAYMENT OF CANAL DAMAGES.

Mr. Weed presented a bill to amend the existing Statutes relative to the appraisal and payment of Canal damages. It repeals section 8 of chapter 335 of the Laws of 1849, which requires the President of the Board of Appraisers to countersign warrants for the payment of damages. Section 31, article 2, title 9, chapter 9, part 1, of the Revised Statutes, is amended so as to read: "A transcript of every such entry signed by the Appraisers shall be recorded in the Clerk's Office of each County in which the premises appropriated shall in whole or in part be situated." Section 1, chapter 310, of the Laws of 1842, regulating purchases for the State, and taking vouchers therefor, is amended so as to read as follows:

> Sec. 1. All purchases for the use of any department, office, or work of the Government, shall be for cash, and not on credit or time. Each voucher whether for a purchase, or for a service, or other charge, shall be filled up at the time it is taken; and in all cases where the payment is not made directly by the Treasurer or Governor, proof in some apt form shall be furnished on oath, that it was so filled up at the time it was taken, and that the money mentioned therein to have been paid, was in fact paid in cash, or by draft on some specified Bank. The Auditor, in all cases where moneys are paid from the Canal revenues, loans or fund, and the Comptroller, in all cases where payments are made from any other revenue or fund, shall from time to time prescribe rules, regulations and forms to secure the faithful observance of this section, and may in all cases, if they shall deem it necessary, require proof on oath of the payment of the money as aforesaid."

FRAUDS ON THE CANAL REVENUES.

Mr. Weed also presented the bill to prevent fraud on the Canal Revenues, by punishing deception in the entry of articles. It provides that whenever any articles shall be cleared as articles paying a lower rate of tolls than they are entitled to pay, or omitted altogether from the clearance, the boat upon which they are transported shall be forfeited to the State. Whenever any articles shall be falsely marked as articles of a character chargable with a less rate of tolls, and shall be thus cleared, they shall, before discovery, be forfeited to the State. The property thus seized and forfeited shall be sold at auction, and the proceeds accounted for and paid into the State Treasury, except one-third of the net proceeds after paying expenses, which shall be awarded to the person discovering such fraud. Any officer of the State, who shall know of any such frauds and shall not discover the same nor enforce the penalties, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and punished by fine not exceeding three times the value of the property fraudulently concealed, and by imprisonment not exceeding two years. Neither the Canal Board nor the Commissioners of the Canal Fund shall have power to remit any penalties incurred under this act, unless they are satisfied that said penalty was illegally imposed, and such remission be applied for, in writing and under oath, within twenty days after the penalties sought to be remitted are incurred.

This law is designed to prevent a system which has become largely practised among forwarders, of clearing articles as of inferior value—such as wheat for corn—in order to defraud the State out of the higher rate of tolls imposed upon the more valuable articles. It is estimated that full one-eighth of the articles carried are thus fraudulently cleared.

KEEPING THE SABBATH.

In the Senate, the Committee on Charitable Institutions, to which was referred the bill offered by Senator Halsey, providing for the closing of the Canal locks and for the general observance of the Sabbath, reported the bill back for the consideration of the Senate, accompanied by the following resolution:

Resolved, (if the Assembly concur,) That hereafter all official duties of Canal officers of this State shall cease on Sundays, between the hours of 12 o'clock on Saturday night and 12 o'clock on Sunday night.

A LARGE APPROPRIATION WANTED.

The President and Directors of the Institution for the Blind, had presented a petition asking for the appropriation of $60,000 to pay its outstanding liabilities, and that the future appropriation for each State pupil may be $150 per annum, beside the charge for clothing to be paid as heretofore, by the Counties from which the pupils are sent.

MORE RAILROAD REGULATIONS.

By unanimous consent, Senator Crosby introduced an act to amend the act to provide for the construction of Railroads. It provides that

> "Any person who shall fraudulently evade or attempt to evade, the payment of any toll or fare lawfully established by any Railroad corporation, either by giving a false answer to the collector of the toll or fare, or by traveling beyond the point to which he may have paid his toll or fare, or by leaving the train without having paid the toll or fare established for the distance traveled or otherwise, shall, upon conviction thereof, before any Justice of the Peace, in any County where such offence may have been committed, be punished by a fine of not less than $5, nor more than $20, for every such offence, together with the costs of prosecution, and to be confined in the County Jail until the above fine and costs are paid. And any person who shall not upon demand first pay such established toll or fare, shall not be entitled to be transported over said railroad; every railroad corporation shall be held to furnish reasonable accommodations for passengers with reference to their convenience and safety; and in every case of neglect to provide the same, any corporation so offending shall be subject to a penalty of not less than $5 nor more than $20, to be recovered as above provided in this section.

SAM MANIFESTING AGAIN.

When the order of motions and resolutions was reached this morning, Senator Goodwin submitted the following concurrent resolutions:

Resolved, (if the Assembly concur,) That for the perpetuity of our Republican institutions and the due observance of law and order, our Senators and Representatives in Congress be requested to give their influence for the enactment of such a law as shall extend the time of residence before naturalization, to 21 years, providing that none but citizens shall exercise the right of suffrage in a State or Territory under the jurisdiction of the United States.

Mr. Goodwin proposed to make this the special order at an early day, to which there was some objection, when it was finally arranged that it should be called up immediately after Executive Session on Wednesday, the 21st, with the understanding that we shall then have the new Senator on the floor in advocacy of the passage of his resolve. The tone and manner of the few remarks made by Senator Goodwin this morning, while urging the making the consideration of his resolve the special order for a day certain, impressed me most favorably. If he brings the same courteous bearing, the same decorous manner, the same simplicity and force of expression to the support of his resolution, I shall regret much to be absent on that occasion.

EXTENDING TAX COLLECTIONS.

Upon the urgent request of the authorities of the towns interested, Senator Robertson this morning secured the passage through the Senate of a bill extending the time for the collection of taxes in the towns of Cortlandt and West Farms, in the County of Westchester, until the 1st of May.

THE TENURE OF CHURCH PROPERTY

Was the special order in the Senate at 12 o'clock, Mr. Brooks having the floor. That gentleman made a lengthy speech in support of the bill, in denunciation of the Catholic religion, against the Jesuits, and generally against all who did not believe in his version of Sam's creed and follow Sam's instructions.

Senator Crosby replied in opposition, not so much to the bill as in review of the Jesuit and the Know-Nothing oaths, and a comparison of their requirements. The Committee reported progress on the bill, and its further consideration was made the special order for Thursday.

J. B. S.

Catlin, the Artist.

We understand that letters have lately been received from George Catlin, the Indian Portrait-painter. It will be remembered that Mr. Catlin was, several years since, very successful in London with his exhibition of pictured specimens of various remote Indian tribes. Mr. Catlin afterwards engaged in sundry speculations, that were far less fortunate.

The letters, which have of late been received, are from the head and tributary waters of the Amazon, whose strange and uncouth savage tribes have furnished Mr. Catlin with new subjects for his pictorial skill.

Mr. Catlin observes that, as civilization had not only reached, but overtaken and passed beyond his Pawnees, he was resolved to find some uncultured human beings, out of the reach of locomotives, on land or water.

He has, doubtless, succeeded in the South American wilderness, and we hope he will bring home a whole gallery of those unclad gentlemen so graphically described in the late reports of Lieutenants Herndon and Gibbon.

NEW-YORK CITY.

Heavy Embezzlement of Diamonds.

Yesterday afternoon, Mr. Wm. Taylor, proprietor of an extensive loan and brokerage office in Chambers-street, appeared before Judge Connolly, and preferred a complaint against the noted Pliny White, who had been in his employ for the past six months in the capacity of clerk, and during that period had managed to abstract and embezzle several packages, containing diamonds, pearls, and other jewels, valued at some $4,000 or $5,000.

White was indicted but a few weeks ago for defrauding two merchants out of several thousand dollars, and is now under $40,000 bail awaiting trial. The man who now accuses White of embezzling his property recently became his bondsman for the sum of $11,000.

The officer was unable to find a trace of the missing diamonds last night, but will no doubt recover them to-day.

Excitement in Broadway—Street-Sweeping Machines.

Quite an excitement was created in Broadway, near Anthony-street, at 6 o'clock yesterday afternoon, by the appearance of six or seven curious machines, evidently intended for street sweepers; though the mode of their operation was not quite apparent. A long cart, with a pendant tail, all boarded up and inclosed, except a vacancy for the brooms, was all that could be seen. The cart is on two wheels, of large dimensions, and drawn by one horse. The machines, it is understood, are to be put in operation at once, so that their virtues may be duly tested.

Missionaries for China.

The Christian Advocate and Journal, (Methodist) says that Rev. Otis Gibson and wife will sail from the port of New-York, on or about the 20th inst., for Fuh-Chau, China, to join the mission of the M. E. Church.

March Lovely.

The Spring has opened charmingly. Every day of March, thus far, has been warm and pleasant, and Summery. The only fear is that it will not last.

Mayor's Complaint Book.

Aside from the numerous complaints about the obstruction of sidewalks, dirty streets, &c., there were the following:

J. M. Carey, of No. 60 King-street, saw a grocery on Fourth-street, between First and Second-avenues, open on Sunday last and filled with drunken loafers, who were using vulgar language to the ladies going to and from church.

Fisher Sampson says that he was arrested on Monday last for burglary, he thinks by mistake for another man, and he hopes the Police will be careful in future, as his character is at stake.

George Killeen, No. 430 Grand-street, says that Mr. McGroatey, No. 439 Grand-street, sells at auction by night illegally, and George supposes also McG. has no auctioneer's commission.

Mrs. Mary March, of Water-street, says that her husband, Christian Louis March, late of the Fourth Artillery, and a gilder by trade, has deserted her. She wants the Mayor to fetch him up and do the fair thing.

An anonymous individual, who writes badly and spells worse, complains of a dance-house, situated on Bayard-street.

John Henderson, No. 1 Bowery, thinks it is not right for Lewis, No. 120 Chatham-street, Weston, No. 130 Chatham-street, and Thwaite, Chatham-square—all daguerreans—should neither take the people's money or their faces on Sunday—which all of the said persons seem inclined to do.

C. G. Hook is opposed to the hay-carts obstructing the side-walks in Bowery, between Fifth and Sixth-streets.

Geo. W. Gase says that when the police were present, and were requested so to do, they did not prevent the tearing down and carrying off of a shanty which was situated in the rear of lot northwest corner of Twenty-fourth-street and First-avenue.

An unknown individual breaks out as follows:

Mr. Mayor, I declare, 'tis a terrible shame
That with all the police of this wonderful town
One cannot be spared, deaf, dumb, blind or lame,
To attend to the people that pass up and down,
And see them across, safe from wagons and hoss,
Where the Jersey boats land their promiscuous crowd.
Cortlandt-street should,
My dear Wood,
Have the care
Of the Mayor
And a pair of police,
And the prayer
Of such fares
Shall arise for the Mayor!

Christopher Lake, No. 243 Madison-street, owes James Hanna, No. 316 Greenwich-street, $34 for board, because of which James has kept possession of Christopher's trunk, tools and clothing. Christopher says that Hanna's act is illegal.

Mrs. Martha Smith, No. 122 Stanton-street, says that Frederika Fee, a German girl, aged 11 years, left her mother's home on February 17, to go on an errand, since which time nothing has been heard of her. The girl was large of her age. Information of her may be left at the Mayor's office.

Vessel Ashore on Jersey Flats.

The bark Ann, from New-Orleans, while coming up to the City yesterday morning, went ashore on the Jersey Flats. The steam-tugs Titan and Hector were sent to her assistance. She will be obliged to discharge part of her cargo.

UNITED STATES CIRCUIT COURT.

Before Judge Betts.

PATENT—RAILROAD CAR.

Ross Winans vs. The Harlem Railroad Co.

This cause, the trial of which has been postponed at various times for some months past, was commenced yesterday, before Judge Betts and a jury. It is another of the heavy patent causes which occupy so much time in this Court, and is likely to continue for several weeks. The plaintiff sues to recover damages for an infringement upon a patent issued to him October 1, 1834, and subsequently extended for seven years from October 1, 1848, for the eight-wheeled car, which is so generally used upon the Railroads in our country; and the cause will accordingly be looked upon with interest by all connected with Railroads.

For the plaintiff, appeared Mr. Keller and Mr. Stoklen, and for the defendants Mr. Whiting, of Boston, Mr. Hubbell, of Philadelphia, and General Sandford, of this City. The cause was opened yesterday for the plaintiff by Mr. Keller, in a speech of about three hours' length, explaining to the Jury the peculiarity and advantages of the plaintiff's mode of construction. The patent was then offered in evidence. Objection to its reception was made by the defendants on the ground that the patentee had not complied with the tenor of the statute, which was passed to relieve the inconvenience occasioned by the burning of the Patent Office, as he had not re-recorded his patent until after this suit was brought. The defendants objected also to the admission of the drawing annexed to the specification, on the ground that it was entirely different from the terms of the specification.

These questions were argued at some length by Mr. Whitney and Mr. Keller. Judge Betts decided that as to the drawing, it was a mixed question of law and of fact, which the Jury must pass upon, and that objection could not be taken at this stage of the cause; that the law which required that patents should be re-recorded, only meant to declare that they should not be given in evidence, when offered, until after they were so on record; and that the fact that the patent was not re-recorded until after the suit was brought could not be a reason for dismissing the suit.

The patent was then offered in evidence and read, and the Court then adjourned.

COURT OF GENERAL SESSIONS—March 6.

Before Hon. Recorder Smith.

Nothing was done in this Court yesterday. Something would, probably, have been done if the Sheriff had not blundered. As it was, an insufficient number of respectable citizens were summoned for the Grand Jury, and there was in consequence no quorum. To-day will set all things right. The Recorder's charge will be delivered in due season, and the business of the term will properly commence.

"FEVER AND AGUE IN THE OUTSKIRTS."—Read the testimony of Hon. E. B. Coleman, of the Astor House, in favor of DESHLER'S FEVER AND AGUE PILLS: Astor House, Dec. 18, 1854. Chas. D. Deshler, Esq.—Dear Sir: I will not claim the $500 you agreed to give me if your medicine did not cure me, being sufficiently remunerated by a perfect recovery. I was troubled for several months with jaundice, bilious fever, and fever and ague. Your Pills performed a perfect cure by their use through a single course. They were recommended to me by a friend, to whom I feel greatly obliged. I shall recommend them with perfect confidence in all cases of a similar character. Truly yours, E. B. COLEMAN.

Mr. McMasters, of the Freeman's Journal, says: "Several intelligent persons among our subscribers have, of their own accord, spoken to us in grateful terms of the prompt and complete relief they have experienced in obstinate cases of Fever and Ague from the use of DESHLER'S PILLS. We most earnestly commend Deshler's remedy, not out of regard to Mr. Deshler, nor directly nor indirectly solicited by him, but as an act of kindness to the many readers of the Freeman, whose places of abode expose them to the distressing and exhausting ravages of this disease."

Mr. R. L. Chambers, Hermitage, Wyoming Co., N. Y., Oct. 1, 1854, says: "Your Pills are all you say in your advertisement in the Tribune."

Mr. Thos. P. Gassaway, Annapolis, Md., says: "The box of Pills I got before, I used with great success."

E. T. Bedell, Esq., Albany, N. Y., writes, Jan. 9, 1855: "Your medicine has given ample satisfaction in cases where it has been used, to my knowledge."

☞ Shall they Perish?—The Trustees of THE AMERICAN WIDOWS' ASSOCIATION, with an exhausted treasury, and a list of upward of FOUR HUNDRED families of American widows and children upon their hands, are compelled to ask this plain question, SHALL THEY PERISH? We ask an American answer—yes, or no? We pledge our individual reputation, that we have personal knowledge that many of these families are among the most worthy in the City, but dependent upon their needles, and all Winter without employment; they have pawned and eaten up the proceeds of their clothes, and are now out of work, out of money, out of all resources, out of decent apparel, and many of them literally so barefooted they cannot go in the street. We have redeemed from the pawnbrokers an immense quantity of clothing, at an expense of over $1,300. This has absorbed our funds, but they have been well applied. Still these women are in want. They owe rent, and house agents are pressing them for money that they cannot pay without depriving themselves and children of food. In their distress they come to us with tearful eyes, and say, "You have saved us from starvation and frost up—for pity's sake do not let my innocent children perish or become street beggars, going about ragged and barefoot from door to door, asking for broken bread. Do not tell me that they were born for that. I cannot live to see such degradation; yet, without help, I cannot exist." Shall they perish?

If all the shoe dealers in this City knew how many women and children's feet touch the cold, wet paving stones, they would give each a pair of shoes.

Most of our beneficiaries are of a class that never have and never will apply to any other organization for relief. They are American—as are we; and they do not feel humbled when they come to us, for we treat them as our equals in respectability and worth. We have received liberally of a generous public. We have expended beyond our receipts. We must not stop—we cannot go on unless the benevolent will again come to our aid. We repeat, shall these widows and orphans perish?

MATRIMONIAL.

MATRIMONIAL.—TO PARENTS AND GUARDIANS.—A young man, not far from 25 years of age, of business habits and strictly moral character, wishes to form the acquaintance of some young lady, through the medium of the parents or guardians, with a view to matrimony. Wealth or beauty is not required by the advertiser; but a good education, pleasing, intelligent looks, mildness of disposition and manners would be essential. Address J. H. T., New-York City.

NO INVENTION of the present century exceeds in utility the far-famed ITALIAN MEDICATED SOAP of Dr. GOURAUD. Its properties for removing tan, freckles, sunburn, discolorations, ringworm, salt rheum, barber's itch, chaps, chafes and every species of cutaneous eruptions, border on the miraculous; it can be used in hard, or even salt water, thus rendering it available at sea. Hundreds of our naval officers and ship-masters bear witness to its exalted merits.

Dr. GOURAUD'S POUDRE SUBTILE eradicates superfluous hair from any part of the body. Nothing looks as well on a man or woman as a commanding forehead.

Dr. G.'s instantaneous LIQUID HAIR DYE is another article of primary importance, inasmuch as it will instantly change red, grey or white hair to a beautiful brown or black.

GOURAUD'S LIQUID VEGETABLE ROUGE. One touch of the Rouge gives to the palest face the healthful hue of the moss rose. LILY WHITE, when applied to the skin, heightens to an astonishing degree the brilliancy of the complexion.

HAIR RESTORATIVE not only restores lost hair, but prevents its falling out, and renders stiff, wiry hair, soft, curly, silky and glossy. Cures dandruff, &c. Found at the old established Perfumery Dépôt, No. 67 Walker-st., first store from Broadway.

IN DEMOCRATIC WHIG GENERAL COMMITTEE—The following preamble and resolutions were unanimously adopted:

Whereas, Hon. WILLIAM H. SEWARD, of the Senate of the United States, has, during his term of office, which expired on the 4th March instant, represented this State in the Senate of the United States with distinguished ability and undeviating fidelity, and has at all times faithfully reflected the sentiments of the people of this State on all the great questions which have been the subjects of debate in the Councils of the Nation; and,

Whereas, He is now about to return to his constituents, after a laborious session, it is fit and proper that he should be received at his entrance into the State with some demonstration of respect; therefore,

Resolved, That this Committee in a body wait upon Hon. WILLIAM H. SEWARD, on his arrival in New-York, and that the Chairman be instructed to tender to him in the name of the Whig party of this City, their thanks for the able assertion of the sentiments of the people of this State in the Senate of the United States, for his faithful attention to their interests, and for his uniform vindication of the great principles of civil and religious liberty, and the inherent rights of mankind.

IN PRESS.
KATE AYLESFORD.
A STORY OF THE REFUGEES.
BY CHARLES J. PETERSON,
Author of "Cruising in the Last War," and publisher of "Peterson's Ladies' National Magazine."

Complete in one large volume, neatly bound in cloth, for $1 25; or in two volumes, paper cover, for $1.

T. B. PETERSON, No. 102 Chestnut-st., Philadelphia, has in press, and will publish on Monday, March 26, what he believes to be the best Historical Novel ever written in America. It is not only a true tale of the times that "tried men's souls," not only a faithful picture of the manners of '76, but one of the most thrilling, powerful, and absorbing stories ever penned. This is the opinion of the best and most impartial editors and critics, several of whom have read the work in proof-sheets. They all say that it is no mere "catch-penny" fiction, but one of equal value and interest; full of stirring incidents and strongly drawn scenes; intensely interesting on every page, yet so beautiful in style, and so true to nature, that it can be read with delight by the best educated men of the country. In proof of this, the publisher quotes the following notices from several of the most candid and able journalists in Philadelphia:

From the Philadelphia Dollar Newspaper.

"Mr. Peterson, by this historical novel, has established his reputation as a romance writer of the first order. We predict for Kate Aylesford a wider sale and a more enduring fame than that of any other novel ever published in this city. It has one great virtue to distinguish it from other fictions, there is not a namby pamby line in it. Not a chapter that may not be read with gratification by the best educated men in the country. Mr. Peterson is not only a scholar, but a practiced writer. He could not write badly if he were to try, while in Revolutionary incidents he is probably better booked than any man in the country of his age. But ability to write well, and a thorough knowledge of the subject written upon, are not the only requisites of an author for an effective and successful novel. There is necessary, besides these essentials, a sort of mechanical knowledge, that comes only by experience—by actual writing—and without this tact, this address in presenting incidents and embodying characters, no writer ever was or ever can be popular. The author of Kate Aylesford has this knowledge in an eminent degree. The most discriminating critics pronounce this novel the finest production of its kind that has appeared for many years. It is emphatically a powerful story. Every succeeding chapter proves more interesting than those which have preceded it. The incidents are not only original in conception, but they are presented with unusual vigor. The characters are all sketched after the fashion of a true artist. There is not an unnatural incident nor an indelicate allusion in it; but from the opening to the close it is chaste, both in conception and expression. Morality, patriotism and all the virtues are prominently held forth—the good are made to prosper, while the evil are punished. The most fastidious can take no exception to this story, while those who delight in graphic descriptions and strongly marked characters, cannot wish for anything more exciting than are the chapters of "Kate Aylesford."

From the Philadelphia Public Ledger.

From what is known of the author's ability, and especially of his talent for presenting Revolutionary reminiscences in the most interesting form, we expected a rich treat in this fiction, as well as a faithful embodiment of the history of the refugees of New Jersey. Nor have we been disappointed. The heroine is sketched most artistically, and fairly stands before the reader a thing of life. One of the great beauties of the story is, the characters are never unnatural, nor the incidents improbable; and yet, from the minute descriptions thrown around them, the most thrilling interest is awakened. The narrative grows more and more absorbing also as it proceeds. It is on all hands pronounced the ablest original novel published for many years, and justly places its author at the very head of the popular romance writers of the day in this country. This is saying a good deal, but we think the public, on the perusal of the story, will agree with us that our commendation is not exaggerated.

From the Philadelphia Sunday Mercury.

A novel of thrilling interest. Mr. Peterson is a deservedly popular writer, and this story will add new lustre to his fame.

Copies of either edition of the work, will be sent to any person, to any part of the United States, free of postage, on their remitting the price of the edition they may wish, to the publisher, in a letter, post paid. Published and for sale by
T. B. PETERSON, No. 102 Chestnut-st., Philadelphia.

$250 REWARD.—PROCLAMATION.—MAYOR'S OFFICE, NEW-YORK, March 6, 1855.—Whereas, JOHN CAMPBELL, was run over by a butcher's cart near the corner of Spring and Hudson-sts., on the 23d of January last, at about 7 o'clock in the morning of that day; and whereas the said JOHN CAMPBELL has since died in consequence of the injuries then received; and whereas the person who drove said cart is unknown to the Authorities, I do by virtue of authority vested in me, offer a reward of $250 for the apprehension and conviction of the person who committed said violence, to be paid on conviction of the offender, on the Certificate of the Recorder or District Attorney, that such conviction was had upon the testimony of the person or persons claiming said reward. But all claims not presented to the Mayor within twenty days after such conviction will be disregarded.

INVENTORS' OFFICE.—No. 68 Wall-st., New-York. No. 40 (Office 27,) State-st., Boston. The object of this Office is to place inventors of patents in connection with capitalists, whereby they can obtain assistance to perfect or sell the whole or parts of their inventions, or form connections with parties for the manufacture of their patented articles.

Such an Office has long been needed by young and ingenious mechanics, to enable them to obtain means to perfect their inventions with rapidity, and place them before the public, that they may realize substantial returns for the works of their genius. Office hours from 10 A. M., to 3 P. M.

MEDICAL.

THE GREATEST MEDICAL DISCOVERY OF THE AGE.—Mr. KENNEDY, of Roxbury, has discovered in one of our common pasture weeds, a remedy that cures every kind of humor, from the worst Scrofula down to a common Pimple.

He has tried it in over 1,100 cases, and never failed, except in two cases, both thunder humor. He has now in his possession over 200 certificates of its virtue, all within 20 miles of Boston.

Two bottles are warranted to cure a nursing sore mouth.

One to three bottles will cure the worst kind of pimples on the face.

Two to three bottles will clear the system of boils.

Two bottles are warranted to cure the worst canker in the mouth or stomach.

Three to five bottles are warranted to cure the worst case of erysipelas.

One to two bottles are warranted to cure all humor in the eyes.

Two bottles are warranted to cure running of the ears and blotches among the hair.

Four to six bottles are warranted to cure corrupt and running ulcers.

One bottle will cure scaly eruption of the skin.

Two to three bottles are warranted to cure the worst case of ringworm.

Two to three bottles are warranted to cure the most desperate case of rheumatism.

Three to four bottles are warranted to cure the salt rheum.

Five to eight bottles will cure the worst case of scrofula.

A benefit is always experienced from the first bottle, and a perfect cure is warranted when the above quantity is taken.

Reader, I peddled over a thousand bottles of this in the vicinity of Boston. I know the effects of it in every case. So sure as water will extinguish fire, so sure will this cure humor. I never sold a bottle of it but that sold another; after a trial, it always speaks for itself. There are two things about this herb that appears to me surprising—first, that it grows in our pastures, in some places quite plentiful, and yet its value has never been known until I discovered it in 1846; second, that it should cure all kinds of humor.

In order to give some idea of the sudden rise and great popularity of the discovery, I will state that in April, 1853, I peddled it, and sold about six bottles per day. In April, 1854, I sold over a thousand bottles per day of it.

No change of diet ever necessary; eat the best you can get and enough of it.

DIRECTIONS FOR USE.—Adults, one table spoonful per day; children over 8 years, dessert spoonful; children from 5 to 8 years, tea-spoonful. As no direction can be applicable to all constitutions, take sufficient to operate on the bowels twice a day.

Mr. KENNEDY gives personal attendance in bad cases of Scrofula.

THE MARRIED WOMAN'S PRIVATE MEDICAL COMPANION. By Dr. A. M. MAURICEAU, Professor of Diseases of Women. One Hundredth Edition (500,000,) 18mo. pp. 250. On Fine Paper, Extra Binding, $1. Every complaint to which woman is subject, from girlhood to womanhood, as also as wife and as mother, are fully described, with the causes, the symptoms, and also proper mode of treatment, in a plain, simple, but in the most chaste language, easily understood. And thus every woman can discover, by comparing her own symptoms with those described, the nature, character and causes of her complaint; and be spared much anxiety and suffering. The wife about becoming a mother has often need of instruction and advice of the utmost importance to her future health, in respect to which her sensitiveness forbids consulting a medical gentleman, will find such instruction and advice, and also explain many symptoms which otherwise would occasion anxiety or alarm. How many are suffering from obstructions or irregularities peculiar to the female system, which undermine the health, the effects of which they are ignorant, and for which their delicacy forbids seeking medical advice? How many suffer from prolapsus uteri, (falling of the womb,) or from fluor albus, (weakness, debility, &c.) How many are in constant agony for many months preceding confinement? How many have difficult, if not dangerous deliveries, and slow and uncertain recoveries? Some whose lives are hazarded during such times, will each find in its pages the means of prevention, amelioration and relief. How many bitter moments, how much anguish, might have been spared to the sufferer, to her husband, to her relatives, by a timely possession of this little volume. It is impracticable to convey fully the various subjects treated of, as they are of a nature strictly intended for the married, or those contemplating marriage.

For sale by STRINGER & TOWNSEND, No. 222 Broadway; ADRIANCE, SHERMAN & CO., Astor House, No. 1 Vesey-st.; DEWITT & DAVENPORT, (Tribune Buildings,) at No. 2 Astor House, Broadway, and at the Publishing Office, No. 129 Liberty-st., New-York; JOSEPH TUCKER, Mobile; also, T. F. PETERSON, No. 98 Chestnut-st., Philadelphia. On the receipt of $1, a copy will be transmitted by mail, free of postage, to any part of the United States. All letters must be addressed, post-paid, to Dr. A. M. MAURICEAU, Office, No. 129 Liberty-st., New-York, or Box No. 1,224 New-York Post-Office.

ZINC PAINTS.

THE NEW-JERSEY ZINC COMPANY—Having enlarged their works to keep pace with the growing demand for their superior Zinc Paints, are prepared to supply the trade promptly, and, as usual, on liberal terms. The Company have succeeded in introducing a new process of grinding, which permits them to warrant their paints to keep soft and fresh in the kegs for any reasonable length of time and in any climate, being in this respect superior to all other paints. For steamboat painting and marine purposes generally their paint possesses peculiar advantages, and is of unrivaled excellence, experience having proved it to be an entire protection against the marine worm and barnacles in all latitudes. The parlor finish, or china gloss, is ground in the best varnish manufactured by the Company. This paint is particularly recommended for interior painting and for steamboat cabins.

The brown zinc paint is made only by this Company, direct from their ore. It is sold at a much lower rate than any other paint, and is greatly valued for its protective effects when applied to iron, and is admirably suited for farm buildings, railroad stations, &c., and is especially valuable for painting tin roofs. The stone-color paint is a compound of the brown and white, and possesses all the valuable qualities of the brown. Its agreeable color has put it in great demand for country residences. The dry white zinc is sold in barrels of 200 lbs., and the paints are put up in kegs from 25 lbs. to 500 lbs. They also manufacture and keep on hand the best gum damar varnish and zinc dryer, which is sold by the barrel or gallon. HENRY AITKEN & CO., No. 103 Washington-st.

ZINC PAINT.—The undersigned Agents for the sale of White Oxide of Zinc, manufactured by the PENNSYLVANIA AND LEHIGH ZINC COMPANY, are prepared to receive orders for the same, and would invite the attention of the trade to its evident superiority over others of American manufacture, and the most successful competition with the best of foreign dealers, can with confidence depend upon always obtaining any desired supply of this Paint, which will be found to recommend itself for purity, great body, and uniform whiteness. Prices and terms arranged on the most liberal footing. JAMES T. LEWIS & CO., No. 81 Water-st.

TERMS OF SALE.

The lessee to pay at the rate of ten per cent. per annum, of the cost of construction, of all Piers extended during the continuance of their lease, from the time of completion.

Vessels to pay wharfage according to the laws of the State and the ordinances of the Common Council; and the lessees are to be bound by those laws, as they may be altered from time to time.

No Wharfage is to be charged to Hell-Gate or Sound Pilot boats; nor to the boats belonging to the ships-of-war of the United States or foreign nations, or to the United States Navy-yards or Garrisons; or to vessels employed in the transportation of street manure or coal ashes from the City.

The Corporation reserve to themselves the right to build new Piers, and rebuild and extend those already built; to build Bulkheads and fill in behind the same; and cleanse such Wharves, Piers and Slips as they may think proper, without claim or pretence of claim for damages, or deduction of rent whatever, on the part of the lessees.

No deduction whatever will be allowed for damage, by reason of any sickness or epidemic that may prevail in the City, or any omission to dredge out the Slips on the part of the Corporation, during the continuance of the lease.

The Leases will contain the usual covenants and conditions, except such changes as are necessary to meet the alterations made in the terms by the Resolutions of the Commissioners; also a clause allowing the Corporation to take any Pier or Wharf, or portion of the same, for Corporation uses, on allowing to the lessee a just and equitable compensation or deduction.

The Lessees will be required to keep the Wharves and Piers in good condition, and safe and proper repair, including especially the string pieces and superficial portions thereof, for safe usage, at their own expense, and to give a Bond for double the amount of the annual rent, with one or more sureties, to be approved by the Mayor and Comptroller, conditioned for the payment of the rent quarter yearly, and the fulfillment on their part of the covenants of the lease.

Ten per cent. on the yearly rent bid for each parcel, and the auctioneer's fees, ($[illegible]) to be paid to the Collector of the City Revenue, at the time and place of sale; and a written stipulation to be furnished by the bidder from one or more responsible persons, to the effect that he or they will guarantee the payment of the rent from the 1st day of May; and that satisfactory surety shall be given when the lease and Bond are ready to be executed.

The ten per cent. when paid, will be credited on the first quarter's rent, or forfeited, if the lessee does not give satisfactory surety, and execute the lease and bond as soon as they have notice from the Finance Department; and the Commissioners of the Sinking Fund shall be authorized at their option to resell the wharves or piers bid off by those failing to comply with the terms as above; and the party so failing to comply to be liable for any deficiency that may result from such resale.

No person will be received as lessee or surety, who is delinquent on any former lease from the Corporation. No bid will be accepted from any person who is in arrears to the Corporation, upon debt or contract, or who is a defaulter, as security or otherwise, upon any obligation to the Corporation. (Sec. [illegible] of Amended Charter of 1853.)

A. J. BLEECKER, Auctioneer.

PEREMPTORY SALE OF VALUABLE PROPERTY—Heretofore known as the BRONX RIVER POWDER MILL, at auction.—A. J. BLEECKER will sell at auction on THURSDAY, March 15, 1855, at 1 P. M., at the Court House, in the town of White Plains, County of Westchester, that very valuable property situated near the Hart's Corner Depot of the Harlem Railroad, and heretofore known as the Bronx River Powder Mill, including the water power, mills and machinery, three dwelling houses, several stables, barns and sheds, and about 150 acres of land. For particular descriptions of the several parcels of which the said tract is composed see the following deeds, viz.: James McCabe and wife to Henry B. Morns, deed dated the 2d day of May, 1848, and recorded in Westchester County Clerk's Office, in Liber 118 of deeds, page 196; Eleanor Hart and wife to same, deed dated Oct. 28, 1846, recorded in said Clerk's Office, in Liber 110 of deeds, page 222, &c.; James Willis and wife to Ernest F. Hanbold, deed dated 28th April, 1849, and recorded in the said Clerk's Office; Peter J. Yerrick and wife to the same, deed dated 5th January, 1850; Isaac H. Barker and wife to same, deed dated 20th December 1848; William Willis and wife to same, deed dated Nov. 10, 1847; John W. Mills to Mary G. Ward, deed dated June 5, 1854, excepting and reserving therefrom certain parcels recently conveyed to the Harlem Railroad Company and Samuel Nudd, containing together about 5¼ acres, as by reference to a map in the possession of the auctioneer will more fully appear.

As the new Depot grounds of the Harlem Railroad Company adjoin this property, having been conveyed to them expressly for Depot purposes, and the neighborhood is in other respects an improving one, the opportunity for investing capital is such as seldom offers, and the sale will positively take place, whatever may be the state of the weather.

Terms, which will be liberal to the purchaser, will be made known at the time of sale.

For map of the premises and other information, apply to the Auctioneer, No. 7 Broad-st., New-York.

Persons wishing to examine the property may do so by applying to Mr. E. F. HANBOLD, on the premises.

Seven trains of cars of the Harlem Railroad leave and return to the City daily.

NEW-YORK CITY.

RHODE ISLAND BANK COUNTERFEITS.

Additional Arrests—New Counterfeits.

Since the arrest of two men in the Second Ward, charged with passing counterfeit $3 notes on the Mercantile Bank, Rhode Island, Captain LEONARD has made two additional arrests. One of the accused parties gave his residence at No. 131 Eleventh-street, and subsequently Officers HERMAN and SIMMONS proceeded to the house, and found PHALEN's wife and his sister-in-law, secreted in a private room. On searching their persons one $3 bill, precisely similar to those found on the person of her husband, was found secreted in her pocket, while in various portions of her apartments were found a large number of small packages of dry goods, showing conclusively that the women had been employed in making small purchases and passing off their spurious money.

It was discovered yesterday that new counterfeit $20 notes on the Madison County Bank of Cazenovia, N. Y., have just been put into circulation. Below we give a full description of these forged issues:

Columbia College—Grounds to Rent.

The grounds around Columbia College are now in the market for the uses of commerce. The extension of Park-place through the Green will be completed in the course of a few weeks, and then the lots on the south side of the new street, which is sixty-five feet wide, will be ready for building. The usage of the College is to let its lots on leases for three terms of twenty-one years each, at a stipulated general rent for the first term, and for the subsequent terms at a rent to be estimated at the then value of the land.

Arrest of Bowery Gamblers.

Yesterday morning, Officer PIERCE, of Squad "B," arrested four men, named GEORGE WOOLEY, alias WOODRUFF, JAMES REED, THOMAS McCANN, and LOUIS EBBETTS, charged with keeping a gambling house at No. 40 Bowery. They were taken before Judge OSBORNE at the Mayor's office, and each held to bail in the sum of $500, to answer at the Court of General Sessions.

TO PHYSICIANS AND THE PRACTICING MEDICAL FACULTY THROUGHOUT THE WORLD.

GENTLEMEN: As it has fallen to my lot to discover the most effectual Tonic Mixture ever know to the world, and as it is the sincere desire to extend its usefulness to all suffering humanity, I am induced to make you the following proposition, hoping that you will receive it in the same philanthropic spirit as I make it, so that by your powerful aid through your practice, thousands who are now suffering with DYSPEPSIA, INDIGESTION and SCROFULA, may obtain a true and permanent relief. I propose to show to all regular physicians, on application to my office, No. 3 Gilsey Building, Cortlandt-street, corner of Broadway, the full and true receipt for preparing my Fluid Extract of Sarsaparilla, and explain to them the modus operandi of the peculiar machinery and apparatus used for that purpose—believing as I do such a course on my part will do away with all prejudice on yours, and be the means of so establishing your full confidence in my compound that you may thereby add to your curative agents the best and greatest blood purifier in the whole world.

I am, gentlemen, your obedient servant,

The relatives and friends of the family are invited to attend the funeral, on Thursday, 8th inst., at 3 o'clock P. M., from No. 164 Smith-st., without further invitation.

In this City, on Monday, 5th inst., of scarlet fever, at the residence of his parents, No. 87 Hammond-st., GILBERT DEAN, infant son of Stephen D. and Ann Elizabeth Peters, aged 2 years, 6 months and 5 days.

The friends and acquaintances of the family are respectfully invited to attend the funeral, at 1 o'clock P. M., on Wednesday, 7th inst.

☞ [illegible] papers please copy.

In this City, on Third Day, 6th inst., NOTTINGHAM, infant son of [illegible] and Martha H. [illegible], aged 7 months.

Funeral from the residence of his parents, East [illegible]-st., between [illegible] and [illegible]-av., on Fifth Day, 8th inst., at 10 o'clock A. M. The relatives and friends of the family are invited to attend without further notice. His remains will be interred in the Friends' Cemetery, L. I.

In this City, on Tuesday, March 6, JOSEPH, son of James J. and Catharine McMahon, aged 3 years, 8 months and 10 days.

The friends of the family are respectfully invited to attend his funeral, from the residence of his parents, No. 214 W. 20th-st., this afternoon at 3 o'clock.

In Brooklyn, on Tuesday, 6th inst., EMILIE C., wife of Charles E. Loomis, aged 24 years.

Her friends, those of her father, Eugene Collomb, also, those of her brother-in-law, S. Boisseau, are invited to attend her funeral, at 3 o'clock P. M., on Thursday, 8th inst., at Christ Church, corner of Clinton and Harrison-sts., Brooklyn.

In Brooklyn, on Monday, 5th inst., of scarlet fever, after an illness of 6 days, Miss ELLEN M. STERLING, aged 22 years, daughter of Erastus Sterling, Esq.

In Brooklyn, on Monday evening, 5th inst., after a protracted illness, JULIA A., wife of Henry P. Vail, aged 40 years.

The relatives and friends of the family are respectfully invited to attend her funeral, from the Church of the Holy Trinity, Brooklyn, on Wednesday afternoon, at 3 o'clock, without further invitation.

In Brooklyn, at the residence of her father, Rev. Samuel E. Cornish, No. 179 Smith-st., JANE SOPHIA TAPPAN CORNISH, aged 20 years, 6 months and 19 days, after a distressing illness of 3 years and 7 months, which illness was attended with idiocy and insanity; the last 114 hours of which time she was unable to take into her stomach one morsel of food.

She will be taken to the Presbyterian Church, (Rev. Mr. Freeman, pastor,) in Prince-st., Brooklyn, at 2 o'clock P. M., on Wednesday, the 7th inst., where funeral services will be performed, and thence to the family lot, Greenwood, for interment. The friends of the family are respectfully invited to attend, without further invitation.

At Yorkville, on Tuesday, 6th inst., ANNE AMELIA BORDEN, infant daughter of Thomas H. and Henrietta Borden, aged 1 year, 5 months and 26 days.

Her remains will be taken to Long Branch on the 7th inst. for interment.

At Setauket, L. I., on Monday, Feb. 26, after a short illness, GEORGE W. FORDHAM, son of the late Caleb Fordham, in the 57th year of his age, formerly of this City.

At Newark, N. J., on Tuesday, 6th inst., after a severe illness, ANNE J., wife of Arthur F. Hayes, of Brooklyn, N. Y.

The relatives and friends of the family are invited to attend her funeral, this (Wednesday) afternoon, at 3 o'clock, from the residence of her brother, No. 120 Commerce-st., at Newark, N. J.

At Sing Sing, on Saturday, March 3, of congestion of the lungs, JAMES A., son of Alfred and Anita Robinson, of California, aged 16 years.

The funeral services will take place at the Church of the Nativity, 2d-av., on Wednesday, March 7, at 11 o'clock A. M. The friends of the family are respectfully invited to attend.

☞ California and Boston papers please copy.

In Brooklyn, on Monday, the 5th inst., Mrs. ANN DE BEVOISE, widow of the late James De Bevoise, in the 84th year of her age.

The friends, acquaintances and relatives of the family are requested to attend her funeral, from her late residence, corner of Bedford-av. and Madison-st., on Wednesday afternoon, March 7, at 3 o'clock, without further invitation.

TUESDAY, March 6—P. M.

The engagements of Gold to go by the Baltic to-morrow exceed $900,000. The rates of Foreign Exchange to-day were firm, and a large business was done in Sterling at 109½ ℘ cent., and in France at 5.12½@5.13¾. Some Southern drawn bills, Bank endorsement, were done on London at 109½, and Paris 5.15@5.13¾. The supply of Exchange was in control of comparatively few parties, and the outside terms were had on most of the business done for this packet. The Bank Statement is considered favorable to continued ease in Money, and confidence is felt in a steady movement in the rates of interest throughout the present month. It is seldom that we have to record, simultaneously, cheap money and dear Exchange, together with large shipments of Coin to Europe. The reason is found in the altered condition of the Bank movement as contrasted with this time last year, when the aggregate Loans and Discounts were $94,537,000, on a specie reserve of only $10,549,000. The contrast in the leading commercial Banks of large capital is interesting:

The Sub-Treasury disbursed to-day $446,051, against $114,626 received; reducing the regular balance to $4,250,742.

The Stock Market was generally firm to-day, with stiffer rates for some of the leading State and Railway Bonds, but not materially different from Monday in the ruling prices on the Share list. The business done in the former amounted to $150,000, including Erie New Bonds at 84½ and Illinois Central at 75½ ℘ cent., an advance in both cases of ¼@½ ℘ cent. Erie Shares closed at 46½ and Reading 79½. There was something of a pause in the latter after the heavy sales and rapid rise of Saturday and Monday. Missouri State Stock recovered to 93 ℘ cent., and Virginias steady at 95½@¾. The other State Stocks, and Federal Loans—the latter not now purchased by the Treasury Department, the offer of the Secretary having expired by limitation on the 28th ultimo—are thus quoted in the circulars for the Baltic of CAMMANN & Co. and MARIE & KANE.

One of the lost or stolen boxes of Gold by the previous California steamer on the Nicaragua route has been recovered—found in the coal bunk of the steamer Sierra Nevada, on the Pacific side.

The European circular of T. J. STEWART & Co., Cotton Brokers, to go by the Baltic, reports:

Receipts of crop at all ports, bales	1,564,000
Against receipts to date last year, bales	1,800,000
Exports to Foreign States, bales	1,160,000
Against same last year, bales	875,000
Stocks on hand, bales	402,000
Against same last year, bales	722,000

In our last, (adds the circular,) we stated we hoped we had ceased to write of low water at Mobile. Since that date, the weather has been clear and unusually [illegible], and, the [illegible] being postponed, the only benefit derived by the melting of the snows we alluded to, has been to place the Alabama River in fair boating order for light draught boats: the Tombigbee and Warrior have slightly risen, also, and let out a few hundred bales of cotton, but we cannot yet report a free navigation, as the telegraphic advices to the 3d inst. notice a deficit of 200,000 bales there. The Chattahoochie is still rather low, and also the tributaries of the Mississippi. The receipts by our tables, by mail advices, are now 211,000 bales below last year, and 232,000 below those of the previous year. The stock in all the shipping ports is 320,000 below last year, while the export to Great Britain exceeds last year 221,000 bales, which gives the appearance of too much for one point, and, in the absence of peace prospects, lower prices must eventuate therefrom.

The Bull and Bear contest on the securities and land scheme of the Illinois Central Road is not yet given over. It is a war of the pamphleteers, for the most part—the reports and representations of the Company and their special commissioners to Illinois, against the reviews and opinions, prepared by their legal adjuncts, of the party opposed to a rise in their various bonds and shares. The question is one about which we have had no particular feeling; though it is difficult, we find, to advance a suggestion or express a doubt, about this or any other leading Railroad property, without being subject to some such imputation. We have uniformly treated the land feature of the Illinois Road as problematical. We have not doubted that this, like other Northwestern Roads, without land jobs to help them, may be rendered profitable by a fair and economically managed traffic; nor have we given credence to the suggestions of doubt on the validity of its mortgages or the remote possibility of pleas of usury. We therefore feel entirely free to give place to discussion by parties interested, as well as to add that there is something of extravagance on both sides. As evidence that the latter is not confined to the opponents of the scheme, we copy the following paragraph, which appeared in the money columns of two of our contemporaries a few days ago:

> The Annual Meeting of the Stockholders of the Illinois Central Railroad Company for the election of Directors, &c., will be held at Chicago on the 21st March next. From a statement made by the Land Department of this Corporation we learn that the entire sales of lands have been, in round numbers, 166,000 acres for an aggregate amount of $990,000, of which $306,000 was paid in cash. The interest lands sold at an average of about $9 per acre, and the lands under the mortgage at an average of a little above $10 per acre. At these prices the remaining lands of the Company would sell for $24,500,000, but an authority of great experience estimates them to be worth $32,000,000. There are remaining about 136,000 acres of land not included in either of the mortgages, and subject to be sold for the payment of interest. Very few of the lands sold are on the line of the road. The law of Illinois prohibiting the Company from laying out towns having been repealed, some locations have been decided upon, and the applications for town lots are already very numerous.

The lands of the Illinois Company, 2,565,000 acres, on a line of 700 miles, are laid off in alternate sections, the Government reserving a corresponding number of sections within six miles, which are open to entry at $2 50 the acre, and within fifteen miles, at $1 25 the acre; making the total value, when the whole of the lands are taken up, about $5,000,000. The entries can be made in Cash, or payable in Land Warrants, a new creation of which to the extent of nearly two hundred millions of acres, has just been made by Congress, and the Warrants will soon be on the market at prices far below the Government value of the lands. It is in view of these and other (local) facts, that we respectfully urge that the Illinois Central must be made a good work of itself, and the traffic and management to this end secured, before the doubts now expressed about its Bonds can be so far removed as to silence opposition. On the other hand, the Bears, so called, who are selling for a decline, will probably make slow progress, while the Bonds continue in favor in two such markets as London and New-York. This favor is not likely to be lost so much by free discussion, as by the continued putting forth the Land Scheme of the Road as the main feature in its securities.

Travelers to California, we are requested to say, will be glad to learn that a considerable reduction in the price of passage to San Francisco has been made on the Nicaragua line.

ADRIAN H. MULLER will hold his regular semi-weekly auction sale of Stocks and Bonds to-morrow, Wednesday, March 7, at 12½ o'clock, at the Merchants' Exchange.

Illinois Central Road.

To the Editor of the New-York Daily Times:

A pamphlet of thirty odd pages has just appeared in Wall-street, entitled a "Review of the Recent Publications upon the subject of the ILLINOIS CENTRAL RAILROAD COMPANY, with legal opinions concerning their Charter and Securities, as affecting their condition and prospects." The Review itself is from the pen of F. H. UPTON, Esq., an Attorney of this City, and concludes with a summary of his legal conclusions on the whole subject. To this succeeds a second legal opinion, in form, from E. W. STOUGHTON, Esq., endorsed by Judge WILLIAM KENT.

The motive to the publication of these documents will doubtless be charged, as in the case of the recent pamphlet of Mr. J. K. INGERSOLL, to speculation for a future decline in the Securities of the Illinois Company, by impairing the confidence in their validity or basis of credit, and by deterring other parties disposed to deal in the Funded Debt of the prominent Roads of the country, from having to do with the Bonds of this Company. The charge may be well grounded. Nay, it may be taken for granted that it is so; and if the attack were entirely anonymous, this should induce a proper degree of caution on the part of the public, in considering—and even in reading—the opinions thus put forth. But, Sir, as you have heretofore reviewed similar publications to the present, one on behalf of the Company by Mr. BANCROFT DAVIS, the other on the opposite side by Mr. INGERSOLL, it is hoped that you will not be disposed to exclude the following extracts, on proper compensation to your publishers for the space they may occupy on your Financial page. The object is to place the argument in part, and the legal conclusions in full, as fairly before the public as the reports of the Company and their various programmes for new loans are usually, and with much more pains, spread to the money world.

The review by Mr. UPTON of the Land Scheme of the Company and the two mortgages, for which it is held to be a good security by the projectors and advocates of the Road, is submitted, in all confidence by his friends, in pamphlet form, but as this part of the subject has before been referred to in your columns—and the pamphlet is, or soon will be, accessible to such of your City readers as desire to read a careful and not disrespectful examination of the Scheme, and value and extent of its security—the present purpose is to give only so much of the review as relates to the recently broached point of the taint and pleas of USURY, together with the strictly professional opinions of the writer and his colleagues, Messrs. STOUGHTON and KENT.

Respectfully, A SUBSCRIBER.
NEW-YORK, March 6.

MR. F. H. UPTON ON THE USURY POINT.

In connection with this last issue of Bonds, [$3,000,000, payable in 1860, netting $2,100,000, or 70 per cent. in Cash, based on 345,000 acres land, and bearing 7 per cent. interest,] a most unfortunate subject of discussion has been started, which on every account, it would have been wiser to have left unbroached. I mean that of our Usury laws as affecting the validity of the securities of this Company. The probability of so odious a defence being ever resorted to to defeat the honest obligations of the Company, however deeply usurious may have been the terms upon which they have been contracted, could scarcely have suggested itself to the mind of any one who was not actuated by sinister motives for the accomplishment of selfish ends. Inasmuch, however, as it must be admitted to be possible, that the Usury laws may be hereafter invoked by some one, for the purpose, perhaps, of preventing an undue advantage which may be gained by a creditor whose claim happened to be prior in maturity—it is wise to consider the subject, candidly and dispassionately.

In the first place, then, it is undeniable that the Bonds of the Company, so far as they have been sold by the Company at a discount, (the Bonds themselves bearing the lawful rate of interest on their face,) are tainted with usury and are void under the laws of New-York. I presume this to have been the case with most of the Bonds issued—certainly the last issue of $3,000,000—were publicly offered at a discount of 30 per cent., and are said to have been taken at that rate. In the next place, the contracts being made in New-York and to be executed in New-York, are by the well-settled law, governed in this respect, by the laws of New-York and by no other laws. Neither the laws of Illinois, nor of any place where suit may be brought upon the Bonds, are in any manner applicable to the contracts, in determining the question of their validity, as affected by the statute prohibition of usury. It follows, therefore, that a law of Illinois, allowing Corporations to sell their Bonds at a discount, notwithstanding the fact that this Corporation was granted by the Act of the Legislature of Illinois, is quite inoperative upon its contracts made in this State.

In 1850 the Legislature of New-York passed an act prohibiting Corporations from interposing the defence of usury in any action. It would seem to the professionally-educated mind, that this most just and judicious enactment afforded a full answer to the objections which have been stated—and as any one having correct feelings and principles on this subject, would naturally most ardently desire to have so disagreeable a subject thus summarily disposed of, it is, of course, with much reluctance and ill will that he lends an ear to anything which can be said by way of convincing him that the statute in question is quite ineffectual. It is, nevertheless, so. The law does not pretend to repeal the usury statute of 1837—as affecting the contracts of Corporations. It simply prohibits corporations themselves from availing themselves of the defence of usury in actions against them. The law could not, constitutionally, have exempted the prior existing contracts of corporations from the effects which had been imposed by the statute of 1837; all that it could do, as to such contracts, was, to control the remedy upon them, by providing that the defence should not be interposed in an action in any court of justice. It was perfectly competent for the Legislature to have gone further, and provided that, thereafter, the contracts themselves, of corporations, should be exempt from the penalties of the usury statute—unfortunately, it did not do so—and the reason why it did not, was, that the law, as is too often the case, was passed for a particular and not a general purpose. It was passed to do all that constitutionally could be done, to sustain the credit of a corporation whose obligations usuriously contracted, were then existing. Unfortunately too, the law went no further than simply to prohibit the corporation itself from interposing the defence of usury. This would be quite sufficient were it not for the fact, that under the law of 1837, a usurious contract may be defeated by any one having an interest to do so, as well as by the debtor himself. For instance—I have a claim against a corporation, posterior in maturity to the claim of another—his claim is tainted with usury, and is void under our law. I can establish this by the most irrefragable proof. He is prosecuting his claim to judgment, and if he succeed, will greatly impair, if not altogether destroy, my security, and deprive me of the means of obtaining payment, when my claim falls due. The Corporation cannot interpose the defence of usury in the action—but I may, under the law, arrest his proceedings. At my instance, and upon due proof, the Court will restrain the prosecution of his action by injunction—and will order his claim to be surrendered and canceled. The law allows this course to me—it requires it of the Court. Now, this being so, it will be seen at once, that however improbable it may be that the bonds of this Company will ever be called in question in our Courts for their usurious inception—it is nevertheless far from impossible—and such a state of things might very reasonably be imagined, as would occasion just cause for apprehension that such a course might be taken. It is better to guard against the possibility of its occurrence, than complacently and authoritatively to declare that the present law affords sufficient protection. I am aware of the great difficulty of persuading the Legislature to meddle with our odiously severe statute of usury—nevertheless, the attempt ought to be made, and that, speedily, to obtain the passage of an act, prohibiting proceeding in our courts, of any nature, by any one, to defeat or delay the collection of claims against corporations, or claims upon obligations contracted by corporations on the ground of usury. Such a legislative provision would meet the difficulty, thoroughly. To deny that there is any possibility of difficulty under the existing law, is neither wise nor honest.

GENERAL CONCLUSIONS ARRIVED AT BY THE REVIEWER.

I will briefly recapitulate the conclusions to which my examination has carried me, and which are deducible from what I have written.

First—I entertain no doubt of the perfect validity of the Chapter of Incorporation of the Illinois Central Railroad Company, and the legal organization of the Company under the charter.

Second—I have no doubt that the Company acquired a legal title from the State of Illinois to the lands granted to that State by Congress, to aid in the construction of the road.

Third—Although the grant was expressed to have been made to aid in the construction, I have no doubt of the legal right of the Company under its charter, to avail of the lands, not as an auxiliary, but as the sole instrument in effecting the construction.

Fourth—As matter of fact, this was done, and in the following manner: It was estimated that $17,000,000 would construct, complete and equip the road. Bonds were issued to this amount, payable in 1875, with 7 per cent. per annum interest, payable semi-annually. To secure these bonds, the Company executed a mortgage to trustees upon the roadway granted, and real estate upon it, and 2,000,000 acres of the land—2,595,000 acres constituting the entire grant. 250,000 acres of the remaining 595,000 acres were set apart, and appropriated to secure the payment of the interest upon the $17,000,000 of bonds, and to the same purpose are appropriated the assessments upon 20,000 shares of the Capital Stock of the Company. The security for the principal of the bonds, being the 2,000,000 acres of land—the average price of a little over $9 per acre is set upon the lands by the terms of the mortgage, or $18,150,000 for the whole—and it is stipulated by the mortgage, that no portion of them shall be sold for less than the prices named, and that they shall not be sold, except for cash or bonds of the Company.

Fifth—There is no doubt of the fact, that nothing but real estate is included in the conveyance by mortgage, to secure the $17,000,000 bonds. The mortgage does not profess to convey the chartered rights, the equipments, the motive-power, and the rolling stock—all this is excluded from the mortgage—except that the trustees are clothed with a power, in the event of default, of entering into the possession of the property not mortgaged, and disposing of that, in like manner as if it had been.

Sixth—The power of sale given to the Trustees of the property not mortgaged, does not create a lien upon it in favor of the bondholders; notwithstanding that power of sale, this property may, undoubtedly, be taken to satisfy any claim against the Company, upon which judgment can be recovered, prior to an entry into possession of it by the Trustees, after such a default as would entitle them so to enter.

Seventh—The amended charter of the company, so far as it allows the lands of the company included in the 2,000,000 acres mortgaged, to be disposed of upon credit, is void, because it impairs the obligation of the contract previously entered into with the bondholders, by their trustees, to dispose of them for cash only. In legal intendment, a contract of sale is a sale where possession is to be taken upon the execution of the contract, where notes are given for the purchase money, and a deed is to be given upon payment of the notes.

Eighth—The lands cannot lawfully be sold for any less prices than those fixed in the mortgage. The mode suggested of avoiding this stipulation by selling at the price fixed, on credit, taking notes for the purchase money, and then taking off 30 per cent. from the notes, for cash, would be a fraudulent evasion of the terms of the contract, and is probably a mere suggestion.

Ninth—No price being fixed to the 250,000 acres set apart by the mortgage to secure the payment of the interest on the bonds—the Company has a strict legal right to sell these lands at what price they please—and therefore, charging the sales made to preemption claimants under the obligations of the charter, at $2 50 per acre, to this 250,000 acres was not an unlawful violation of the contract; but in view of the fact that no mention was made of any incumbrance of preemption claimants upon any portion of 250,000 acres, when they were set apart by the mortgage, to secure the payment of interest, it was not perfect good faith towards the bondholders, to deduct these preemption lands from these securities, when the Company had 345,000 acres of unappropriated lands from which they might have deducted them.

Tenth—The $17,000,000 estimated, having proved inadequate to complete the construction and equipment of the roads—the bonds of the Company have been issued for $3,000,000 more—for which the Company, by negotiation, has received $2,100,000. The are payable Sept. 1, 1860—with 7 per cent. interest, per annum, payable semi-annually—and it is supposed that this amount will be sufficient to complete all but about eighty miles of the road. This second issue of bonds is secured by mortgage upon the Company's remaining 345,000 acres of land. If these lands cannot be sold within the time to pay the principal and interest of these bonds—amounting to upwards of four millions of dollars—as no other method is provided for their payment, and all the other resources of the Company are otherwise fully appropriated—the holders of these bonds will have a legal resort to the property not conveyed by the mortgage to secure the $17,000,000—namely, the equipments, the motive power and the rolling stock and chartered right and franchises of the corporation. In view of the fact that as good and well located lands as these 345,000 acres can be purchased for $1 25—or at the extent $2 50 ℘ acre, for years to come—it would not be reasonable to suppose that the 345,000 acres can possibly be sold on any terms, within five years, for more than $750,000.

Eleventh—The prices fixed by the mortgage upon the 2,000,000 acres—and necessarily fixed, in order to make the lands the sole instrument, and not the auxiliary of the capital stock, in raising the entire funds for the work—are so high, as, of necessity to keep them from the market—for the reason that it must be impossible to sell them at these prices either for cash or on any terms of credit—so long as the Government has lands of the same quality, and as well situated, for sale at $2 50—or $1 25 per acre, which must be for many years. There is no legal method by which the prices or the terms of sale of the Company's mortgage lands can be changed, save by an assemblage of the holders of the bonds, and their unanimous consent thereto.

The terms of the charter require the lands to be sold at auction ten years after the completion of the road, if they are not sold before. They must therefore continue unsold during that time, (which has not yet commenced to run,) and the consequences—first, of deprivation of the means of paying the bonds from this source—and second, of the loss of the local traffic which would result from a settlement of the country, and is requisite to secure a revenue sufficient to defray the expense of working the road—are alike unavoidable.

Twelfth—The bonds of the Company, so far as they have been negotiated at a higher rate of interest than seven ℘ cent. ℘ annum (which is understood to be the case with nearly all of them) are void under the law by which they must be construed. This is the law of New-York alone; because they were all made in New-York, and are to be executed in New-York. No Illinois laws can be invoked in their construction, so far as the question of usury is concerned. The New-York law, prohibiting corporations from interposing the defence of usury in any action, does not make valid the usurious contracts of corporations; and, although the corporation cannot repudiate the contract for this cause, they may, nevertheless, be defeated—injunctions obtained, restraining their collection by suit, and orders obtained for their surrender and cancellation, at the instance of interested parties, who under the law, may have the right so to do.

The only remedy for this, is the procuring of a broader remedial legislative enactment. The evil is of sufficient magnitude, in view of the impending position of the Company, not only to justify, but to require immediate efforts in this behalf. I am, respectfully,

Your obedient servant, F. H. UPTON.
NEW-YORK, Feb. 26, 1855.

LEGAL OPINION OF MR. E. W. STOUGHTON.

Having investigated and considered the questions of law involved in the foregoing statement of facts concerning the Charter and Securities of the Illinois Central Railroad Company, I state the following as my opinion and conclusions thereon:

1. That there is no legal objection to the validity of the Charter or the organization of the Company under it, or to the title of the Company, under the Charter, to the lands granted by Congress to the State of Illinois, for the purpose of aiding in the construction of the Road, provided the Road and Branches be completed within the time limited by the Act of Congress and the terms of the Charter.

2. That although the grant was made in terms "in aid" in the construction of the Railroad designated, and although the Charter allows an increase of the Capital Stock of the Company to an amount not exceeding the sum actually expended on account of the Road, these provisions present no legal objection to a resort by the Company to the lands, as the sole instrument of providing the means for construction—and not as auxiliary merely to the Capital Stock allowed.

3. That by the terms of the mortgage, nothing but the real estate of the Company is conveyed to secure the payment of the $17,000,000 of Bonds, and this real estate consists of Road-way, with the dépôt buildings, station and engine houses, and 2,000,000 acres of land. The chartered rights and franchises, the equipments of the road, the motive power, the rolling stock, engines, cars, carriages, tools, machinery, and materials are not included in the conveyance.

4. The right of entry upon, and power of sale of, the property not included in the conveyance, which is given to the Trustees by the terms of the instrument of mortgage, in the event of default on the payment of the $17,000,000 of Bonds, does not create such a lien upon that property as to prevent bona fide creditors of the Company, who obtain judgments before the right of entry into possession by the Trustees, has accrued, from resorting to this property, to enforce the satisfaction of their judgments.

5. That the stipulations of the mortgage to the Trustees for the benefit of the Bondholders are such, that the lands mortgaged cannot be lawfully sold by the Trustees upon the requisition of the Company, except for cash or the Bonds of the Company; nor can they be thus sold at any prices less than those fixed in the mortgage. An amendment of the Charter, repealing the clause in the original Charter, requiring sales to be made for cash only, or the Bonds of the Company at par, and providing that they might be disposed of upon credit, would be invalid, because it would obviously impair the obligation of the contract entered into with the Bondholders. The purchasers under such contracts of sale would acquire rights to the land which would entitle them to hold the same till the maturity of the notes given on the credit sale, and thus the rights of the Bondholders to require the absolute sale of the lands by the Trustees, for cash, immediately upon the specified default by non-payment of interest upon their Bonds, would be entirely defeated. That a contract of sale of the lands by which a purchaser should give his notes on time, should be put in possession of the lands, and receive the certificate or obligation of the Company or Trustees, for a deed of conveyance upon the payment of his notes, would be a sale upon credit in legal intendment.

6. A contract of sale upon credit, with the agreement to make such a discount for cash, from the purchasers' notes, as would make the price of the lands purchased 31½ per cent. less or any less than that fixed by the terms of the mortgage, would be an illegal evasion of the obligation not to sell the lands at less than those prices. Neither the prices, nor the terms of sale of the lands, can be altered save by the consent of the Bondholders.

7. That no price being limited by the mortgage for the sale of the 250,000 acres, therein declared to be set apart and appropriated, to secure the payment of the semi-annual interest on the Bonds, the Company retained the strict legal right to sell or direct the sale of these lands for such price as they might deem proper. The manner in which they appear to have done so with a portion of them, resolves itself into a question of good faith only.

8. That the question of the validity or invalidity of the Bonds of the Company as affected by the provisions of the Statute of Usury—the Bonds being made in New-York, and to be paid, both interest and principal, in New-York—must be determined by the laws of New-York, and by no other, whatever may be the domicil of the contracting parties, or whatever suit may be instituted for their enforcement. That, by the laws of New-York, if these Bonds are tainted with usury in their inception, they are void. If the last issue of $3,000,000 of Bonds, or any issue of Bonds which, upon their face, bear interest at the rate of 7 per cent. per annum, were sold by the Company for 70 cents on the dollar, or any sum less than their amount, they are clearly usurious, and void under the law.

9. The Statute of New York prohibiting corporations from interposing the defence of usury in any action, does not exempt the contracts themselves, if usurious, from the consequence imposed by the Statute of 1837, at the instance of any person having the right, under the law, to interpose such defence, or avail of the legal invalidity of the contracts. Nor is it certain that, by the true construction of the law of New-York, the Corporation itself may not, as plaintiff, file a bill of complaint, and, upon proper proof, obtain an injunction restraining the prosecution of suits upon their usurious contracts, and an order for their surrender and cancellation, notwithstanding that they are prohibited from interposing the plea of usury as a defence.

E. W. STOUGHTON.

I have examined the questions of law as stated above, and fully concur in the opinions of Messrs. STOUGHTON and UPTON. WILLIAM KENT.

Commercial Items.

HEMP—Not a transaction reported since the week commenced. No receipts as yet. In store about 2,000 bales, including 600 to 800 held off the market. Fair quality held at $95, good $100, prime $105. At Lexington, in this State—as we learn by the papers of that place—the small producers are sending in enough to supply the demand. Prices range from $70 cash to $80 on four months' time. A good deal is sold under contract, at the highest figures, deliverable between this period and May.—St. Louis, March 1.

SUGAR PROSPECTS.—The Franklin (St. Mary) Planters' Banner, of the 22d, says:

"Many of our planters stopped planting their seed-cane during the drought, thinking it wouldn't pay for the trouble; but since the late rain they have recommenced—this time with a prospect of success. We hear many complaints however, of damage done; some say that one-half of their seed is rendered entirely useless. From all accounts, we may expect short crops next Fall."

Similar complaints reach us from almost every quarter of the sugar region.—N. O. Com. Bulletin, 26th ult.

PORK PACKING IN MILWAUKEE.—This business, which has been growing steadily and rapidly during the last four years, has this year attained a magnitude that deserves more than a passing comment. The Sentinel publishes a statement showing the aggregate number of hogs purchased and packed in that market, during the current season, to be 33,459, and their total weight 8,479,628 lbs., averaging 250½ lbs. each. There are, besides, a number of small lots, purchased and put up by individual dealers, which would swell the aggregate to full 35,000 hogs. The number above given is equivalent to 42,300 bbls. of the product of the hog, against 27,525 bbls. this time last year. The average weight of the whole is a little over 250 lbs., and the quality thought to be equal, at least, if not superior to what can be found in any other market. The great bulk of these hogs has been purchased at or under $4 per hundred; the market price not having gone above that figure till within the past few days. The packing season is not yet over, though it is scarcely probable that more than two or three thousand hogs will be added to the number already on hand.

APPEAL OF THE NEW-YORK HOUSE-PAINTERS.—A crisis unparalleled in the history of our Trade having taken place in our midst, and which has been the most oppressive in its operations in consequence of the Hard Times that have existed for the last few months.

The evils that have occurred in times past by an irregular system of remunerative wages; a state of things that brought so much ill-feeling between the public and the mechanics, had in the past been removed by the workmen fixing a stated rate, to be received in exchange for their Labor, viz., two dollars per day for ten hours' work, and for a short time in Winter, viz., November to the first of March, at twenty cents per hour. This amount was fixed in consequence of the dearness of provisions and the exorbitant rents demanded throughout the City, and came into effect on the first of April, 1853, and has remained so until the present time. The employers seeing the necessity of this rise, acquiesced with it almost unanimously. Now they have, after a severe Winter, when men have been idle almost four months, taken upon themselves the responsibility of reducing the wages previously paid during the last two years, and with a meanness contemptible, have on last Monday put their decision into operation—this being the time allowed by the rules of trade for working a full day. We do not charge them all with the same act, as we know, well that a number of employers are against a reduction in wages, but in consequence of some of the largest firms beginning the new rule, they will, to save themselves, be obliged to do the same. We consider that if circumstances in 1853 warranted an increase of remuneration, it at the present season doubly demands it, both on account of the continued high price of provisions and house rent, &c. The past Winter has been one of great severity, not only to the mechanical but to the manufacturing interests—and now that the Winter has past, a return of prosperity was reasonably expected by those most suffering.

The House-Painters' Association having been in existence for the last five years, has won, by the manner in which it has discharged the duties incumbent on them, the confidence of the best workmen, and the respect of the whole of the Associated Trades. When rumors were floating around prejudicial to the interest of capital, circulated by numerous anonymous persons, it remained firm and true to its provisions. Not so with the employers, who have, in consequence of the depression in business, without any notice whatever, reduced the wages of their workmen, after they have, and are now demanding of the public the legitimate prices of the trade. We respectfully appeal to the public, through the only channels now open to us, viz. the Press, and ask whether the employers were justified in their nefarious course. The precarious and unhealthy nature of our work ought to be entitled to consideration. We honestly think that those who are by circumstances, not by merit, our employers, should not be allowed to deprive the honest workman of the right to live, and in their place substituting incompetent hands at reduced wages, and then charging their customers the same price as if they were employing good and competent workmen.

Taking these things into consideration, the members of the New-York House Painters' Association inform the public that they are now working for twelve shillings per day, instead of the regular rate. And, also, Resolved, That the names of some of the employers that refused to pay the regular wages be published throughout the Press. Carried, viz. Messrs. Woodward & Pearne, Owens & Brophy, Silas R. Purbeck, Peter O'Connor, Guillies & Allison, Alexander Gow, Richard Fosdick and —— Cowley, Esquire, Employers.

Signed, SIDNEY B. WHITE, President.

NOTICE.—The Auction sale which took place at No. 18 4th-av., of harness, saddles, &c., was not that of D. CAMPBELL, who occupied the store for upwards of thirteen years, he having removed to No. 50 4th-av. in May, 1854, where he is prepared to furnish harness, saddles, &c., made of the very best material and by first-class workmen expressly with the view of supplying his customers at private sale (also those who will favor him with a call) with an article not made up for the auction room, but an article that can be relied upon for style and durability.

LAMPS, CROCKERY, CHINA AND GLASSWARE.—The subscriber would respectfully inform his friends and the public that he has opened the store No. 65 Bowery, one door above Walker-st., and is prepared to supply them with the above-named goods; also, plated spoons, forks and castors, girandoles and other articles, at the lowest cash prices. C. A. BALDWIN, No. 65 Bowery.

NOTICE TO BUTCHERS.—JAMES BUCHAN & CO. are paying 5½ cents per lb. cash for rough fat, on delivery at their Soap and Candle Manufactory, Nos. 161 and 163 Elizabeth-st., or at their Melting Establishment, No. 6 Abattoir-place, West 39th-st. and 11th-av., near the North River.

DEFIANCE SALAMANDER SAFES.—ROBT. M. PATRICK is the sole manufacturer in the United States of the above celebrated safes, and F. C. Goffe's impregnable defiance locks and cross bars. Depot No. 192 Pearl-st., one door below Maiden-lane.
